MANION CHOSEN CONSERVATIVE LEADER

Former Railway Minister Is Chosen By Convention To Succeed R. B. Bennett

Vote on Second Ballot 830 for Manion to 648 for Ex-Attorney-General MacPherson of Saskatchewan, With Only 49 for Denton Massey and 49 for J. H. Harris, Torontonians

Heads Party

HON. R. J. MANION

OTTAWA (CP)—Hon. R. J. Manion was elected leader of the Conservative Party on the second ballot at the National Conservative Convention here today.

In accordance with previously-announced rules, the vote on the second and final ballot was not announced, but it was learned Dr. Manion's vote was 830. He required 788, half of the 1,576 votes for election. On the first ballot he had received 726, just 57 short of the required number.

The unofficial figures were: Manion 830, MacPherson 648, Massey 49, Harris 49. There were 1,576 votes on the second ballot compared with 1,565 on the first ballot.

CONGRATULATIONS GIVEN

The returning officers reached the platform with the result of the second ballot while a resolution on party organization was being considered. This delayed the official announcement, but a rush of platform occupants to shake the doctor's hand soon indicated the way the vote had gone. One of the first to congratulate the winner was Murdoch A. MacPherson of Regina, who ran second on both ballots.

"Dr. Manion is declared elected leader of the Conservative Party," announced Senator John T. Haig, returning officer, and a riot of cheering broke out.

YUKON SEAT

A seat for the new leader in the House of Commons appeared assured at once as Mrs. George Black, member for the Yukon, announced she would resign her seat in his favor and ask Prime Minister King to give him an acclamation.

Mr. MacPherson, former Attorney-General, of Saskatchewan, was given a rousing reception when he stepped to the microphone to move that the election be made unanimous. He thanked the 648 persons who had voted for him.

He would expect from the new leader, when he assumed office as Prime Minister, those legislative measures which would make for the peace and contentment of the people.

HARRIS SPEAKS

It was a privilege to second the resolution to make it unanimous that "my good, gallant friend Bob Manion" be chosen leader, said Joseph Harris, who ran third in the balloting.

Denton Massey, the fourth contender, said: "This great convention has spoken. We shall leave Ottawa today with a new leader to whom we have pledged united support." He took pleasure in supporting the motion to make the election unanimous.

Mr. Lawson endorsed all that had been said by the other candidates. Under the democratic

New Leader Is Ontario Native

Hon. R. J. Manion of Ottawa, new leader of the Conservative Party of Canada, was born in Pembroke, Ont., 56 years ago, a son of Patrick J. Manion and his wife, nee Mary O'Brien, both Irish-Canadians. He practiced for years as a surgeon after graduating in medicine from Trinity University, Toronto. He married Miss Yvonne Desaulniers of Ottawa in 1906, and there are three sons. He was an alderman of Fort William, Ont., in 1913-14, and served overseas in the Great War. He was a candidate for the Commons as a Liberal in 1915. He was elected in 1917 as a Liberal-Unionist. He served in the Meighen cabinet as Minister of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment. Later he was Postmaster-General. In the Bennett cabinet he was Minister of Railways and Canals from 1930 till 1935. In religion he is a Roman Catholic.

VOTE AGAINST RAIL MERGER

Conservative Convention Declares For Separate C.N.R. and C.P.R.

OTTAWA (CP)—The National Conservative Convention resolution on railways, involving a stand against amalgamation or unification, was carried in an avalanche of "Ayes," after brisk debate in the convention this afternoon.

Kelso Roberts of Toronto, seconder of an amendment to the resolution moved by D. W. Tisdale, said the amendment proposed the National Conservative Party should take a positive attitude toward the railway problem and declared it should solve that problem while safeguarding with "proper pension schemes" those engaged in railway work.

Hon. Raymond Morand, Windsor, Ont., said the convention had not assembled here to settle the railway problem. "Surely we don't want to play into the hands of the Liberal Party. I ask you to rely on your committee, support this resolution and don't support this amendment."

CO-OPERATION

The railway resolution adopted pledges the party to the policy of securing co-operation between the two great railway systems under the direction of a non-political board, subject, however, to the protection and safeguarding of the rights of labor by adequate pensions for railway employees who may be displaced by such co-operation. Provided, however, that those railway lines which contribute to and are essential to the national development of our country be preserved and continued."

HERRIDGE CAUSES STIR

OTTAWA (CP)—Hon. W. D. Herridge, former Canadian Minister to United States, threw the Conservative convention into an uproar today by describing resolutions adopted as "a lot of useless junk."

An amendment he sponsored to the finance resolution was defeated and the resolution carried.

The resolution favored elimina-

Conservatives Close To Break

OTTAWA (CP) — Threatened walk-out of a part of the Quebec delegation to the National Conservative Convention was averted this afternoon by a plea from Hon. Maurice Dupre, co-chairman of the convention.

The Quebec delegates, more than 200 strong, went into caucus and immediately it was moved that the delegation consider walking out because of the defeat this forenoon of a Quebec amendment to the defence resolution.

A majority of the delegates opposed any action or threat to leave the convention. Mr. Dupre was called on to speak. After his address the dissenting faction agreed to stay.

The amendment would have had the party declare no armed force should be sent out of Canada without a referendum.

Vote to Exclude Orient Migrants

Canada Should Bar Them, Says Conservative Convention

OTTAWA (CP)—The national Conservative convention today passed a resolution that the Canadian government should take effective steps for the exclusion of Orientals from Canada. It also suggested a scheme for selected immigration of families from Great Britain, Ireland and France.

OTTAWA (CP)—A resolution on constitution and Dominion-provincial relations passed by the National Conservative Convention reads as follows:

"That in view of the fact the Rowell Commission has not yet concluded its hearing or made its report, this National Conservative Party reserves its decision on the constitutional issue."

H. D. Graham, K.C., Trenton, Ont., said he felt if conditions of Canada were to be rectified there must be revision of the constitution. The convention was being asked to reserve its decision "until this pack of Grits bring in their report." He moved the following amendment:

"That the National Conservative Party is in favor of amending the British North America Act so that questions facing this Dominion today can be adequately and properly dealt with."

CO-OPERATION FOR DEFENCE

Conservative Convention Declares For Empire Consultation

OTTAWA (CP)—The National Conservative Convention went on record today as declaring the defence of Canada can best be promoted by consulation and co-operation between all members of the British Commonwealth of Nations. It voted down an amendment to this resolution which would have declared Canadian forces should not be sent out of Canada "unless such a step is approved by the Canadian people in a referendum submitted to them."

Adoption of this plank in the party's platform, in substantial agreement with the stand taken by Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett as Prime Minister, and more recently by Prime Minister King, apparently settled the defence issue which had threatened the harmony of the convention from the beginning.

Sixty-one Jobless Tin-canners Taken Into Custody Today

One Woman Among Those Arrested By Police; Prefers to Stay With Boys

Consider Special Sitting of Court

Sixty single unemployed and one married Victoria woman, wife of a local business man, had been arrested by city police up to noon today as the contingent of sit-downers from Vancouver started their first tin-canning campaign this morning.

Police authorities were considering holding a special session of the police court this afternoon to arraign the men on charges of obstructing police officers while in the execution of their duties.

For two hours between 9.30 and 11.30 the men cheered and shouted while lodged in the city jail. They sang their theme song "Hold the Fort," O Canada, "Pack Up Your Troubles" and parodies on various songs in which they ridiculed political office holders.

These songs were interspersed with cries of "When Do We Eat?" and "Are We Downhearted?—No!"

The first two men were arrested at 9.52 and were followed within three minutes by three more men. After that they followed in quick succession until there were 50 men inside. About 11, they started coming in slowly in twos and threes.

BROUGHT IN BY PATROL

The biggest arrest of the morning was made at Douglas Street and Gorge Road where the police patrol went to pick up six men.

Each of the men, as he was brought into headquarters was relieved of his can, bearing the words "We Are Hungry," and his paper banner which he carried across his chest bearing the words, "Jobs Mean Security." The tags which they distributed to contributors were marked "I Support a Works Program."

The 61 cans were taken by police and each marked with the name of the man from whom it was taken. These will be used as evidence in police court.

Two desk sergeants, Thomas Hall and George Varney, were on duty to handle the influx, while several extra men were called in to maintain order around headquarters. Sergt. Arthur Bishop was in charge of the street detail, while the arrests were supervised by Police Chief J. A. McLellan and Inspector J. T. Boulton.

ALL FORCE ON DUTY

All off-shift men were called in for duty and only the regular members of the police force were instructed to make arrests.

GOVERNMENTS OFFER AID

Relief For Transients to Harvest Time: Temporary Work For B.C. Men

Provincial and federal governments today offered a new measure of assistance to single unemployed men in the province, but R. W. Campbell, leader of 700 jobless now in Victoria, said the government's proposals did not meet their needs.

Premier Pattullo announced the new relief policy would cover both British Columbia single men and transients.

British Columbia single men who can convince government employment officials that they are honestly trying to find jobs will be offered temporary work on government projects so they can get enough money to move on to another place looking for work.

Nonresident transients, who will agree to go back to the prairies for harvest time, will be offered regular single man's relief until the harvest hands are needed, which is assumed to be about August 15.

Campbell said that it was up to the men individually whether they wanted to accept the government's offers, but declared from the standpoint of the Relief Project Workers' Union they were not satisfactory.

"The policy of our union remains the same," he declared. "We are asking a definite solution for unemployment. As a union we are not interested in casual jobs."

"Of course this won't end the strike," he added. "We feel that if the government recognizes the unemployment situation to this extent, why doesn't it go all the way and recognize the condition as it really exists and lay down a permanent program."

GOING AHEAD, SAYS ABERHART

CALGARY (CP) — Premier William Aberhart, commenting on the decision of the Privy Council in London to discontinue hearing on the validity of Alberta's credit and newspaper legislation, said today "it will not constitute a serious blow to the Alberta government."

"We will go ahead with our program just the same," said the premier, reached by telephone at Black Diamond, 40 miles southwest of Calgary.

France Prepares For Royal Visit

When King George VI and Queen Elizabeth go to Paris this month they will be given a reception on which neither labor nor expense has been spared. Arrangements of the most lavish kind are being made for their entertainment, and the train on which they are to travel from Boulogne to Paris is being completely renovated. Above are shown artists among the corps of workmen on this detail of the preparations painting the coat of arms of Great Britain and the insignia of the French Republic on the locomotive.

Slim Japan War Anniversary Meals

Many Nipponese Eat Three Cents' Worth; Appeal For Metal

TOKIO (AP)—Japan observed the first anniversary of her conflict with China Thursday with a curious mingling of deep religious symbolism and war-time practicality.

A moment of silence was observed at high noon. Throughout the day, thousands made solemn pilgrimages to military shrines where, according to the Shinto belief, still live the souls of men killed in battle.

The anniversary was used, also, to spur the nation to greater personal sacrifices to meet Japan's desperate economic struggle which has paralleled the fighting in China.

SCANTY MEALS

Special lunches costing 12 sen, about three cents, were eaten throughout the empire.

Even cabinet members and highest military and naval officials participated, the dish consisted of one ball of rice, about the size of a grapefruit, with a sour pickle imbedded in the centre. Water replaced tea.

Another phase of the day was the "one family, one donation" duty to which the government called the people. Each household was required as a patriotic rite to give the government one piece of metal—no matter how small or what type.

NO BRIEF INCIDENT

When the army went into action last July 7 the Japanese anticipated something similar to the "Manchurian Incident" of 1932—a quick and comparatively easy conquest of the northern province.

There are, however, more Japanese fighters in China today than ever before, and there are more than twice as many under arms. Fully 1,000,000 are estimated to have seen action in the "China Incident." The Chinese have been badly battered on every front, but they have given no indication of surrendering.

Nominally, the northern provinces have been "occupied." Actually, the Japanese army is strung along the two main railroads. In the area between, large bands of Chinese guerillas move around.

HANKOW—China will not be conquered!

As the world reads of our great cities levelled, our countryside blighted, the homes of our ancestors destroyed, our provinces overrun and our people slaughtered or subjected to barbarisms unspeakable, the world must know that our cause is just.

Let it know also that the ultimate victory is ours.

A year ago the cruel greed of our neighbor forced our government beyond the limit of endurance and plunged our unprepared and peace-loving people into war. With the best of motives friendly powers have sought to end this war, to offer mediation which might lead to a compromise.

Municipal Heads Demand Answer

Resent Failure of Government to State Policy on Unemployables

While the provincial cabinet was having its troubles today with the single unemployed, municipal leaders of the province attacked the government on another phase of the unemployment problem, asking government aid in caring for indigent unemployable persons.

Thirty delegates of the Union of B.C. Municipalities saw the cabinet this morning and afterwards expressent resentment that they had not reached a definite answer to claims they first made three months ago.

Premier Pattullo informed them the government had not so far given full consideration to a special investigation of their case prepared by departmental officials.

At a meeting afterwards the union delegates discussed this and finally named a committee of Reeve William Crouch, Saanich; Clerk R. R. F. Sewell, the union secretary, and Harry Sullivan, New Westminster, to continue negotiations with the Premier and Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance.

FIRST PROTEST

The municipalities protest arose out of a new government relief policy started in March by which government contributions for relief to unemployables were cut off. A new classification was carried

TEN BOYS DIE IN FIRE DRILL

Tragedy Overtakes Exhibition at City of Coimbra, Portugal

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Ten boys died today when firemen failed to rescue them from a four-story wooden structure set ablaze to permit an exhibition fire drill. Ten others were injured seriously in the drill at Coimbra, 100 miles north of Lisbon.

The building was soaked with gasoline for the spectacle, with boys from 12 to 20 distributed through its rooms. The boys, some sons of firemen, were to receive 10 escudos (45c) for their help.

The drilling brigade went to headquarters 400 yards from the building, to await a prearranged alarm after the fire was started.

The flames spread too quickly. Thousands of spectators watched in terror as the fremen fought through the crowd to effect the planned rescue.

Two of the screaming boys died in the flames. Eight were injured fatally in jumping from windows.

The crowd stampeded and some among them were injured. A volunteer brigade was formed to aid in carrying victims to a hospital.

The demonstration was a feature of the Holy Queen Festival, which the government suspended after the tragedy.

Troops Ordered To Palestine Flare-up

Two British Battalions to Go to Holy Land as Clashes Spread

LONDON (AP)—Two battalions of British troops tonight were ordered from Egypt to Palestine to assist in quelling a Jewish-Arab conflict in which 28 have been killed in the last two days. Three hastily dispatched warships already had reached or were en route to the Holy Land.

The troops were ordered to leave at "the earliest possible date."

The Admiralty announced the 7,550-ton cruiser Emerald had arrived tonight at Haifa, Palestine port where the 28 were killed and 103 injured. Dispatches from Haifa said the 7,580-ton cruiser Enterpri also was there.

PITCHED BATTLE

JERUSALEM (AP) — British troops fought a pitched battle today with a band of 600 Arabs who entered Palestine from British mandated Trans-Jordan.

It was reported the 32,000-ton battle cruiser Repulse, one of the most powerful warships afloat, would arrive at Haifa tomorrow.

Conservatives National Now

OTTAWA (CP)—The National Conservative Convention today unanimously approved a change in the name of the party from Liberal Conservative to National Conservative.

It was the first resolution before the convention this morning.

Speaking in support of the proposal, Senator Rufus Pope of Bedford, Que., responsible for the suggestion, said Sir John Macdonald called the party Liberal Conservative because George Brown of Toronto, a Liberal, had joined with him to achieve Confederation.

"The time has come when there is no such thing as liberalism," he said.

LONDON — After deciding to discontinue the hearing of appeals on the Alberta press bill and the measure to regulate credit, the judical committee of the Privy Council today reserved judgment on the province's bill to tax the chartered banks.

Their Lordships turned down the appeals on the press and credit measures on the ground they were inoperative. The judgments of the Supreme Court of Canada declaring the bills ultra vires of the provincial Legislature, therefore stand.

Judgment was reserved on the tax measure after the arguments of counsel were completed late this afternoon.

out to determine who were unemployables.

Municipal leaders, forced to pay 100 per cent of the cost of relief for this class instead fo 20 per cent as previously, claimed the financial burden was too great. In a preliminary interview with the cabinet at that time they were told that a study would be made of the working of the new policy and a further conference held.

At today's meeting the union leaders asked the government for its answer but did not present any further facts or figures. Victoria, Vancouver, the Fraser Valley Reeves' Association and some other cities had presented individual briefs previously.

The Victoria brief showed that where the city was paying 36 per cent of the local relief bill in January it paid 66 per cent in May, the government's share falling in proportion.

By comparison with last year, out of a total relief bill of $24,619 in May the city paid $6,972, while in May this year it paid $11,753 out of a total bill of $17,899.

Reeve R. C. McDonald of Coquitlam, president of the union, expressed indignation that the government had not been prepared to answer the delegation.

"Don't we represent the people just as much as the government?" he asked. "Or who does the government think we represent? I notice that when there was a bunch of unemployed in Vancouver the Premier could fly over there to meet them. We represent 78 municipalities and came here to get an answer on a question of policy, with which the government should be fully acquainted."

Mayor Fred Hume of New Westminster said the Premier had kept "looking at the clock" because he was busy. "Isn't our time valuable as well?" he asked.

Reeve J. B. Leyland of West Vancouver said he couldn't understand why Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Municipal Affairs, had not spoken up for the delegation. He should be their spokesman in reality, he claimed.

Reeve Crouch immediately came to the defence of the minister.

"He's one of our most loyal supporters," he said. "Just because he doesn't make a lot of noise at an open meeting doesn't mean he isn't doing his best."

Mr. Leyland said what he meant was the minister had not sat in the union executive meetings, possibly because he was not invited.

Alderman Fred Crone, M.P.P. of Vancouver, explained that as he understood it a special study of the relief problem had been made by J. V. Fisher, assistant deputy minister of finance; H. M. Cassidy, director of social welfare, and E. W. Griffiths, relief director, and that their report was not typed until shortly after 10 this morning. That was why the government could not possibly give an answer.

"Well, why wasn't the report ready?" asked Reeve McDonald. "They've had three months to go about it. We put our brief up that long ago. And its costing us dollars and cents for every day's delay in getting a new policy settled."

Mayor George Miller of Vancouver said it appeared there might have been a slip up about calling the meeting with the cabinet so soon. He had been under the impression the government would give a definite answer today but quite evidently could not do so.

Mr. Gray was then invited into the union's meeting and said he had expected the municipal men to tell the government just how much the new relief plan was costing them. But they had not done so. As far as the government's own study of the problem was concerned he had just received the report of the officials today.

tion of duplicating taxes economy in government services and a sane monetary policy.

"I cannot see these resolutions written into the law of the Conservative Party without registering my profound protest," Mr. Herridge said, "because in my judgment they fail to disclose any solution of understanding of the problems of Canada."

He proposed a resolution to pledge the party to economic and monetary reform which would stabilize Canadian production at its maximum level and raise consumption to that level.

Resolutions offered the convention as the party policy were "an insult to the convention," said Mr. Herridge.

"So are you," shouted a delegate.

The former minister received a good hearing, but there were no other speakers on his motion.

Court Test For Padlock Law

Refusing Disallowance, Lapointe Suggests Quebec Trial of Concrete Case

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Ernest Lapointe is not prepared to recommend that the Governor-General disallow Quebec's Padlock Act, nor is he disposed to recommend a reference on the constitutionality of the legislation to the Supreme Court of Canada. This decision was contained in a ministerial report given to the governor-in-council by Mr. Lapointe yesterday.

While the validity of the act is stated to be a proper subject for determination by the courts, Mr. Lapointe's opinion is that action should be based on a concrete case "rather than upon the submission to the Supreme Court of Canada of an abstract question."

The padlock law, officials described as "an act to protect the province against communistic propaganda," was passed at the 1937 session of the Quebec Legislature. It provided that a building where communistic literature or propaganda was found could be padlocked by authorities.

First action under the law was taken last November when the office of the weekly Montreal newspaper Clarte was raided and padlocked. Later the Montreal office of the Toronto daily newspaper the Clarion was raided and 700 copies of the paper along with other publications and documents seized. Several book stores and print shops also have been raided.

MARGIN OF DAY

The minister's opinion, rendered one day before the expiry of the statutory one year's period within which the Dominion may exercise its right of disallowance, is a lengthy document. The 15 sections of the act are cited, and their purport explained.

Mr. Lapointe then dealt with a petition received last January from the Canadian Civil Liberties Union, Montreal branch, which asked that the statute be disallowed.

The petitioners were heard through Warwick Chipman and Charlemagne Rodier, acting as counsel for the Canadian Civil Liberties Union.

The Quebec government was not represented.

sideration, said Hon. R. B. Hanson of Fredericton, chairman of the committee. It read:

"1. We reaffirm our abiding loyalty to the crown and the demacratic system of representative self-government, of which the crown is the symbol.

"2. We recognize the British Commonwealth of Nations a mighty influence making for world peace and the preservation of democratic institutions.

"3. We reaffirm the principle of maintaining unimpaired the ties that bind the British Commonwealth of nations.

"4. We believe the defence of Canada and the preservation of our liberties can best be promoted by consultation and co-operation between all the members of the British Common wealth of nations."

Reynolds Butler of Montreal said this resolution did not go far enough, although he agreed with it. He moved the referendum amendment.

FEARS EDEN

Victor Barre of Montreal said his group liked to regard the amendment as a preventive measure. "Let us draw a sharp distinction between temporary governments that come and go here as elsewhere, and the Empire itself.

"Thank God we have Mr. Chamberlain in office today, but tomorrow we might have Mr. Eden and his followers or a Socialist government with a broad Communist stripe. We might have a government that would decide at once to put Mr. Hitler in his place."

"Why not?" queried a section of the audience.

Kenneth Eoll of Fort William, Ont., was opposed to the amendment. He believed it did not express the feeling of the young people.

WRONG WAY

Sam Hughes of Lindsay, Ont., grandson of Sir Sam Hughes, wartime Minister of Defence, said the policy enunciated in the amendment had been "given the frouncing it deserved" at the Winnipeg convention 11 years ago.

Quebec delegates were going about defence of the Empire in the wrong way when they proposed to allow politicians to argue on a referendum throughout Canada while the finest flower of western civilization was being destroyed by bombs.

Mrs. Henry Joseph of Montreal opposed the referendum amendment, which, she said, would be a waste of time while the Empire was being attacked.

Closing the debate, Mr. Hanson said that rejection of the referendum proposal would mean Parliament would decide on the participation of Canada in any war as no troops could be sent outside Canada without Parliament's consent.

HOW THEY VOTED

On the standing vote, the majority of the Quebec delegation supported the amendment with about half a dozen others, scattered throughout the other provincial sections. A substantial minority of the Quebec delegation and practically the whole of the other delegations voted against it.

The main motion reaffirming loyalty to the crown, adherence to the ties that bind the British Commonwealth together and co-operation and consultation in defence carried easily.

peals by the City Council to Ottawa and to the provincial government, and communications between Ottawa and the provincial government.

Premier Mackenzie King wired Mayor Andrew McGavin as follows:

"Your telegram of July 5 received. Problem of single unemployed in Victoria considered carefully by cabinet this morning. Telegram has just been sent to Premier of British Columbia indicating certain measures which it is hoped will assist towards solution of the problem."

The text of Premier King's telegram to Premier Pattullo was not given out here, but Premier Pattullo covered the matter in two announcements.

The announcements dealing with transients was as follows:

"Our provincial government has made repeated representations to the federal government as to responsibility for transients and the federal government has now agreed to accept financial responsibility to extend relief to all nonresident transients who are properly registered and certified, pending their return to their homes.

"The Dominion Government is prepared to extend this relief to harvest time, which may be assumed to be August 15, when there should be many openings for employment in the provinces east of British Columbia.

"Applications for return transportation, and relief pending same, will be accepted at the various offices of the Employment Service of Canada in British Columbia.

"Those transients who have journeyed from Vancouver to Victoria in an effort to place their case before the provincial government may make application at the special registration office in Victoria as already provided."

The other announcement dealing with B.C. men read in part as follows:

"In order that British Columbia residents may not suffer by reason of the large influx of transients, arrangements have been made that single homeless British Columbians who are not otherwise eligible for relief, and who can satisfy Department of Labor officials that they have been making reasonable efforts during the past two months to obtain casual or permanent employment and have not succeeded, will be given sufficient temporary work to provide them with subsistance during a further period of search for work.

"Single homeless British Columbians who are in need of such assistance should make application to the Employment Service of Canada at Nelson, Penticton, Kelowna, Vernon, Kamloops, Vancouver, Nanaimo and Victoria.

"Transients will be expected, and are urged to make application for transportation to their place of former residence forthwith.

"Transients who register and make application for transportation, will, under arrangements with the Dominion Government, be provided with subsistance pending provision for their transportation and arrival at their destination."

Registration of the men in the city went ahead today while tin-canning proceeded on the streets.

Officials of the special registration office on Wharf Street reported 11 men registered this morning, bringing to 85 the number listed since a week ago Tuesday.

The assertion of Campbell that the men were registering slowly because of the limited facilities of the special registration office brought a prompt reply today.

"Just two days I informed Campbell we could handle up to 150 men a day at our office," said J. T. Gawthrop of the unemployment relief branch.

In face of today's arrests for tin-canning and the government's new announcement of policy 150 more men were traveling by freight train from Nanaimo to Victoria to join the group here.

In Vancouver John Matts, secretary of the Relief Project Workers' Union, said:

"If we can't get assistance at Victoria and we are informed we are a federal responsibility, we will endeavor to use the provincial government's offer of transportation to go to Ottawa for our grievances."

SLIM JAPANESE WAR ANNIVERSARY MEALS

But we cannot hope for the temporary safety that a compromise might offer. We are fighting for our existence.

We cannot stop midway to seek peace. If we should do so prior to the attainment of the object for which we are putting up resistance, it would mean the subjugation of our nation and annihilation of our race.

We have lost cities, but the foundation, the hope of our prolonged resistance is not to be found in metropolitan centres, but in the country, in the villages and in willingness to sacrifice and endure, in the determination to resist which millenniums of living close to the earth have engendered in our people.

We have lost territory, but we have lost it in fight, and by so doing have made to burn brighter the spiritual flame which is the spirit of China, the spirit which will emerge from the ruins Japan has created to erect the structure of a new China.

By PRINCE FUMINARO KONOYE OF JAPAN

Written for the Associated Press

TOKIO—One year ago today Japan was forced against her will into a conflict with China.

Every possible effort was made to localize the incident.

Peaceful settlement was agreed to but never effected owing to the failure of Chinese authorities to carry it out. . . .

It was not until after more than a month that the Japanese government finally realized that younger officers in the Chinese armies, who had long been educated and trained in anti-Japanism, were firmly determined to fight Japan and were deliberately working toward that purpose. . . .

We are not fighting, however, with the Chinese people. Our conflict is with their leaders, civil and military, who have been assiduously inspiring the people with a hatred for Japanese during the last 10 years. We are firmly convinced that unless we uproot this underlying cause of wrong there can be no lasting peace in the Far East, and for that purpose it is absolutely necessary to crush the Kuomintang government with its armies, which include avowedly anti-Japanese leaders.

FOOCHOW BOMBED

CANTON, China (AP)—An official communique said Japanese war planes raided Foochow three times Thursday, dropping 55 bombs and causing casualties that may extend into the hundreds.

(Foochow is the capital of Fukien province and has a population of nearly 1,000,000.)

BOMB DEATHS

SHANGHAI (AP)—Terrorist attacks against Japanese were resumed in Shanghai Thursday on the first anniversary of the conflict between Japan and China.

Foreign troops and police reserves intensified their patrol of sultry streets to guard the International Settlement and the French Concession.

Four were killed and five wounded by bombs, grenades and bullets. Two of those killed were Japanese and two were Chinese. A British colonial soldier was injured.

There were flurries of machine gun fire in outlying districts and reports of sporadic shooting in industrial Putung, across the Whangpoo River from Shanghai proper, that may have meant a series of attacks by Chinese guerilla units.

The Chinese and Japanese armies now are in a near-deadlock along the Yangzte River about Hukow and Kiuklang, 150 miles from Hankow and 450 miles from Shanghai.

The lone woman arrested was brought in by Policewoman Alice Pye.

On arrival at headquarters police volunteered to take her to the women's quarters for her comfort, but she flatly refused, saying "I'll stay here with the boys." She was not placed in the lock-up with the men, but detained in the charge office until she was formally charged and booked.

The men were good natured about their arrests, and joked with officers as they were searched at headquarters. A small crowd gathered outside the station to get a look at the tin-canners.

The crowd got one or two laughs watching some of the taggers as they were being brought in dump the contents of their cans into a side pocket. This was of no avail, however, since they were forced to undergo a thorough search before they were put in the lock-up.

During the first half hour of the arrests, when there were only a few in the jail, each new arrival was greeted with a lusty cheer.

Later the police moved the men from the large chamber in the lower part of the cells and segregated them into the various sections of the cell block.

The arrests were slowed down about noon when lunch was ordered for the men.

NO RULING ON ALBERTA PRESS

cision on the press and credit acts in a few words.

"We think," he said, "it would be contrary to practice and to the usual procedure adopted by the Privy Council, that the board should express any opinion to His Majesty on a subject which no longer is practical in any sense at all."

Counsel for the respondents then asked costs. Their Lordships reserving decision.

COUNSEL NOT HEARD

Hearing of the appeals on both the press and credit bills was stopped without the judges hearing counsel for the respondents, except on the question of costs.

The point was that the bills depended for their operation on the appointment of a chairman of the Alberta Social Credit Board, who is nonexistent, the Alberta Social Credit Act having been repealed.

When Col. O. M. Biggar, K.C., counsel for the province, opened arguments on the press bill the point was raised as to whether the Judicial Committee could properly hear the appeal.

Lord Thankerton: I do not see how a bill which cannot do anything can be intra vires.

Lord MacMillan: It can't do anything.

SPEAKS FOR PRESS

Hon. J. L. Ralston, K.C., counsel for the Alberta press, suggested the judicial committee might consider whether the press bill, which would have compelled Alberta newspapers to print corrective or amplifying statements on government policies at the direction of the chairman of the Social Credit Board, was substantively ultra vires.

The Supreme Court of Canada, it seemed, had disposed of the matter on the ground the bill was ancillary to the Social Credit Act and, the Social Credit Act having fallen, the ancillary to the act fell with it.

H. O. Duchemin, K.C., counsel for the Canadian Press, the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association and the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association, said vital questions arose in the press legislation. It raised the issue of whether a provincial legislature had the authority to control the press or whether that authority lay with the Dominion Government.

Mr. Ralston urged that repeal of the Alberta Social Credit Act afforded the Alberta press an opportunity to ask for an authoritative decision on the points raised in the Supreme Court regarding the constitutionality of the press bill, considered by itself and apart from other legislation.

COSTS ARE SOUGHT

He asked for costs on the grounds that disposition of the appeal adversely to the appellants was caused by their cutting the ground from under their own feet by repeal of the Social Credit Act while the litigation was pending.

"I cannot tell a lie," said the ADVERTISEMENT

A precept every GOOD advertisement knows is: "I cannot tell a lie—and get away with it." Even if it wanted to stretch the truth, just a teeny bit, that wouldn't be smart business. For, in that way, MORE people would discover the exaggeration, more people would be off that product or that store for life.

Advertisements, then, are essentially truthful. If not from moral scruples, then on a hard-boiled basis of good business practice.

Yes, you can trust the advertisements in this paper. Make it a daily habit to read them, along with the other news. They will save your time. Save your steps. Save the pressure on the family budget that must see you through until next pay-day.

Three Drowned In Toronto Bay

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Frank E. Fairbarin of Cedarville, Ont., and two young sons, Robert and Frank, were drowned last night when the automobile in which they were riding plunged into Toronto Bay at the foot of Spadina Avenue.

Mrs. Fairbarin's husband escaped through a side door and was taken to a hospital for emergency treatment.

The accident occurred as hundreds of persons strolled near the waterfront.

TECHNOCRACY PICNIC

NEW WESTMINSTER—The annual picnic held by the sections of this general regional area, Technocracy Inc. was held at Queens Park here Sunday. Approximately 250 members attended from Seattle, Tacoma, Everett, Bellingham, Maltby and Edmonds, south of the line, and from Vancouver, Chilliwack, Nanaimo and Victoria. Sports were held in the morning, and following lunch addresses were heard on expansion developments and "Symbolism," by W. E. Walter and O. Corbett, directors of the Vancouver and Victoria sections respectively. A "motorcade" of 28 Technocracy cars then proceeded to the Vancouver section headquarters, where an inspection was held.

M. J. GILLESPIE DIED

WHITEHORSE, Y.T. (CP) — M. J. Gillespie, life insurance representative, with headquarters in Vancouver, died yesterday in the Whitehorse General Hospital from cerebral hemorrhage.

Mr. Gillespie had made annual trips to the Yukon for his company for some years. He is survived by the widow and a daughter, in Vancouver.

ESTATE DIVIDED

VANCOUVER (CP)—The will of John Galloway, former engineer of Winnipeg, who died here last October leaving an estate of $108,625, has been filed in the B.C. Supreme Court for probate. Beneficiaries—the widow, Winnifred Mary Galloway, and two sons, Ian and Keith Galloway—live at Duncan, B.C.

Almeria Opposed As Safety Port

LONDON (CP)—Almeria, proposed by General Franco as the one port in government territory in Spain which would be immune from insurgent air raids, is inadequate in size, poorly equipped and too close to the actual hostilities, according to a communique issued by the Committee of British Shipowners Trading with Spain.

Prime Minister Chamberlain is expected to make a statement to the House of Commons on his government's attitude on the insurgent leader's offer. The proposal to make Almeria on the southeast coast, a safe port, was advanced after repeated protests against aerial bombings of British merchant vessels carrying goods to government Spain.

Almeria, said the shipping men's protest communique, made public here last night, is the smallest of the seven ports in governmental Spain used by British merchantmen and is "in every way unsatisfactory."

"It has maximum accommodation for seven steamers," the communique continued. "There is no refrigeration. There are very limited storage tanks for oil.

"There are at present about 45 British vessels discharging in Spanish government ports, many of which are over 3,000 tons. At best it would be possible to accommodate only one large vessel in Almeria. Further, 50 vessels are due within the next fortnight, so that if Almeria were made the only safe port, only one-seventh of the British shippinig in Spain could be accommodated."

A petition urging immediate government action to end attacks on British ships in Spanish government ports was published last night by Most Rev. William Temple, Archbishop of York, 10 Anglican bishops and numerous other high church dignitaries.

"We recognize the obligation of avoiding a general war if it can be done without gross betrayal of principle," said the statement, "but we contend an even greater evil is involved in international anarchy, which would almost inevitably lead to a general war."

Sergt. J. H. Regan Is Rifle Victor

BLAIR RANGE, North Vancouver (CP)—Pairing a 48 at 300 yards and a 46 at 600 yards for 94 out of a possible 100, Sergt. J. H. Regan, Canadian Scottish, Victoria, won the Duff Stewart match today at Blair Range, as shooting in the 60th annual British Columbia Rifle Association meet advanced into the second day.

Tributes Paid At Officer's Funeral

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—More than 1,000 Prince Rupert citizens paid tribute yesterday to the late Acting Inspector William J. Service, the head of the British Columbia police for this northern district, who was shot and killed by an enraged gunman Monday.

Later the body was sent to Kamloops, from where Inspector Service came a month ago to take over his duties here. Corporal Sam Service of the Chemainus division of the provincial police, a brother, and Mrs. Service, the widow, and daughters accompanied the body, which will be buried at Kamloops Sunday.

Militiamen, ex-servicemen, police, government and civic officials and citizens took part in the long procession, through Prince Rupert streets. The body was accompanied by a guard of honor from the 102nd Battalion, Royal Canadian Artillery.

The services were held under the auspices of the Masonic order. E. J. Smith, Worshipful Master of the Tsimpsean Lodge of the Masons, conducted the services.

NEW PLANT LIFE STUDIES REPORTED

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP)—A hundred scientists from five northwest states and British Columbia will gather here this month to discuss ills of northwest plant life and the cures.

Professor J. M. Reader, associate plant pathologist of the University of Idaho, said the meeting of the Northwest Association of Horticulturists, Entomologists and Pathologists would draw scientists from Utah, Montana, Idaho, Oregon, Washington and British Columbia to its three-day session, July 27 to 29.

Island Impresses Newspaper Manager

C. A. Colby, business manager of the Missoulian and Sentinel of Missoula, Montana, arrived in the city yesterday to spend several days.

"We were greatly impressed with the scene from the Malahat Lookout," said Mr. Colby. "We sat there for three-quarters of an hour and drank in the scenery. I've never seen anything like it."

Mr. Colby said the 80 miles he drove from Nanaimo was the longest 80 he had ever driven. He thought he must have been given the wrong distance. He said he couldn't make any speed because of the many turns.

"But perhaps it would be just as well to keep the turns and cut down the speed and then the tourists will look at the scenery," said Mr. Colby. He told of a case in Montana where a scenic drive had been ruined because a straight road had been constructed. No one now saw the beauty spots as they whizzed along.

Mr. Colby seemed to feel the urge to relax when he reached Victoria. Vancouver, he said, did not offer that opportunity but he felt Victoria had something very interesting to offer in that respect.

Infants' Deaths Due To Drugs

CHICAGO (AP)—The use of drugs to moderate pain in childbirth was listed today by Dr. N. Bundesen, president of the Chicago Board of Health, and four associates, as a contributing cause in the death of newborn infants.

Their conclusions were based on a study of the cases of 2,260 infants who died within two weeks after birth.

Writing in the July 9 issue of the Journal of the American Association, the investigators reported the use of analgesics "may be important in the deaths due to asphyxia."

"Analgesics were given almost four times as frequently to the mothers of infants who died between one and 11 months inclusive," the writers said.

Theft Trial Set For Next Week

Pending completion of the B.C. police investigation into the alleged offence Robert Singleton, Arthur Hutchinson, Stanley Stragg and Lew Brooks, four youths charged with the theft of a safe and merchandise valued at $500, from a Mayne Island store, were remanded a week when they appeared in the Provincial Police Court yesterday afternoon.

Bail was set at $1,500 for each of the youths after Constable William Murray had requested the remand for the prosecution. The store entered at Mayne Island was owned by Arthur Vigurs.

Chamber Seeks Co-operation

Merchants and Organizations Asked to Aid in Staging August Parades

Co-operation of all local merchants and organizations will be sought by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in putting over Victoria's two midsummer parades on August 3 and 6, Norman Foster, secretary of the Junior Chamber celebrations committee, reported today. He said it is the aim of the chamber to attract coastwise attention to the parades and to make them as well known as the Pasadena and Portland Rose Festivals.

The day parade will be held August 3 and the illuminated night parade will take place August 6. Junior Chamber officials point out that a considerable amount of work is involved in connection with the organization of such events, but that this work had been gladly undertaken in the hope the merchants of the city would be behind them 100 per cent.

The officials hope that all merchants and organizations, large or small, will in some way participate in the parades, not so much for the financial gain as for the desire to be of service to the city.

Attached to letters being sent out will be a list of entries for the day and night parades, which the canvassed persons are asked to study and be prepared to sign an entry form when members of the Junior Chamber committee, specially delegated for that purpose, call upon them within the next few days.

The Junior Chamber slogan is: "It's our city, let's help those who are helping to make it a prosperous one."

Statement On Blast Awaited

MICHEL, B.C. (CP)—Mines of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company remained idle here today—shut down by British Columbia government mines department order—but there was still no official statement concerning Tuesday's explosion which killed three men.

Officials of the company, whose No. 1 mine was rocked by a blast in B seam, said the survey of the workings had not yet been completed, "owing to inaccessibility of certain sections."

"They said that "theoretically" the mines were under control of the provincial mines department, and any statement would have to come from government inspectors—not the company.

Edward Morrison, John Phillips and William Cartwright were killed Tuesday when mine gases exploded deep underground. Eleven other men managed to escape.

It was believed today efforts would be made to reopen within a few days the unaffected sections of the mine.

Michel coke oven operations would not be affected by the shutdown, company spokesmen said, because they could be kept supplied with slack from mines at Fernie, 23 miles to the southwest.

Chief Mines Inspector J. Dickson was expected here shortly from the coast to investigate Tuesday's explosion.

Yesterday a coroner's jury viewed the three bodies. The coroner then adjourned the inquest indefinitely pending instructions from the provincial mines department.

Post Office Will Have New Glass

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver's central post office soon will have new plate glass in its ground floor windows.

The windows have been boarded up since June 19, when they were broken during a disturbance which accompanied the eviction of unemployed men who had occupied the building for a month.

Delay in replacng the windows was due to the fact that until Parliament prorogued funds in the budget were not available save by warrant.

False Teeth Wearers Are Worst Breath Offenders!
"Need More Than a Mouth Wash" say Authorities . . . Recommend Polident
Plates and bridges soak up odors and impurities like a sponge! A thin dark scum collects on them. This scum holds germs and decay bacteria. It is so tough that ordinary brushing can't even reach. Almost gets into every tiny crevice, where brushing can't even reach. Almost always it results in "denture breath"—probably the most offensive of all breath odors.
Yet there's a perfect way to clean and purify false teeth without brushing, acid or danger. It is Polident, the powder that dissolves away all scum, stains, tarnish and odor. Makes breath sweeter—and plates or bridges look better and feel better. Tens of thousands call Polident a blessing for comfort, convenience and hygiene. Long-lasting can costs only 40c at any drug store. Approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau and dentists everywhere.
Cleans, Purifies Like Magic
Put plate or bridge in ½ glass of water. Add a little Polident powder. Leave in 10 to 15 minutes—rinse—and it's sweet and purified—ready to use!

The Ghost of Hamilton

WHILE THE DELEGATES TO THE CONservative convention at Ottawa were carefully getting the internal hang of things it was appropriate to renew the party's pledge of empire and give the flag its usual airing. The privilege of attending to these familiar exercises was extended to Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, a former Prime Minister and now leader of the Conservative opposition in the Senate, who soon obtained the information required by a large part of the assembly—the "temperature" of the Quebec delegation. Yesterday's proceedings indicate that Mr. Meighen's demand "for a frank recognition of Canada's debt to the Empire and dependence on the Empire for defence against attack" was hardly a successful display of expert strategy.

It is not for us to suggest that the Conservative "Board of Strategy," if that famous body is still in existence," chose unwisely when it selected Mr. Meighen to deliver the "keynote" speech of the convention, especially if it had to be devoted chiefly to a rehash of the Conservative Party's claim to a complete monopoly of what it considers patriotism in all the implications of the term. As Mr. Meighen "has spoken," however, it may be as well to weigh his qualifications for fashioning the 1938 model of Empire fealty, or the course which Canada's Conservative Party should set itself—and, presumably, adhere to—in this regard. We are assuming the "faithful" in session at Ottawa still believe in the virtue of consistency.

Let us recall what Mr. Meighen, in 1922, said of the King Government when it had declined to be stampeded by a somewhat hasty "feeler" from Britain as to what, if any, military assistance Canada might like to give if Turkey followed up her victory over the Greeks with a real threat to the freedom of the Dardanelles. The Canadian cabinet naturally wanted more information before it could consent to take on new obligations of this kind. As we said in these columns at the time, the question of Canada's loyalty to the British Commonwealth was not an issue, and Mr. King's contention that the crisis was one that should respond to treatment at the conference table was confirmed by the course of events.

What did Mr. Meighen say at a Conservative luncheon at Toronto on September 22, 1922? This: "Let there be no dispute as to where I stand (on the Near East question referred to above). When Britain's message came, then Canada should have said: 'Ready, aye, ready; we stand by you.' I hope the time has not gone by when that declaration can yet be made. If that declaration is made, then I will be at the back of the government.'"

How different, however, were Mr. Meighen's sentiments in the general election campaign of 1925, when he was hoping to get back into power, when he set out to woo Quebec with all the political artifice he could command. It was then he selected Hamilton for his famous declaration that, in case of war, before troops were again sent outside Canada, he would consult the people; he would submit a referendum. It did not go down at all well. And in the general election which the "constitutional issue" forced in 1926, Mr. Meighen—in Toronto on September 7 of that year—was asked to explain that Hamilton pronouncement. What was his answer? This: "When the time comes to face the circumstances described, I will be prepared to discuss that speech." His government was defeated and he himself lost his seat in Portage la Prairie. After six years out of public life he was appointed by Premier Bennett to the Senate.

In view of Mr. Meighen's historical record on "this loyalty business," therefore, is it any wonder that his speech to the assembled delegates at the current Conservative convention at Ottawa did not go down as well as had been expected? Or was he flying a kite in the good old-fashioned political way?

Inconsistent

IN MANY PARTS OF CANADA THERE will be widespread regret that the Dominion Government does not propose to recommend to the Governor-General that he disallow Quebec's Padlock Act. In making the announcement, Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, explained that while the validity of the act is a proper subject for determination by the courts, he is of the opinion that such action should be based upon a concrete case "rather than upon the submission to the Supreme Court of Canada of an abstract question."

The legislation in question was passed by the Legislature of Quebec 12 months ago. It has been described briefly as a measure "to protect the province against Communistic propaganda." It bequeaths to the authorities the right to padlock any building in which is found what is considered to be Communistic literature or propaganda. Action already has been taken in several instances in which the spirit and intent of the Act has, in the opinion of the authorities, been violated.

Party lines have not been rigidly drawn by any manner of means in the discussions of this padlock legislation. Such newspapers so widely in conflict on matters of purely political import as the Winnipeg Free Press and the Ottawa Journal see practically eye to eye in their dislike of the Act with which the Dominion Government does not propose to interfere.

Early in the year the Winnipeg Free Press said this about the vital provisions of the Padlock Act: "It concerns elementary rights which could not be questioned for a minute in Great Britain or the United States. Citizenship in the Dominion would be robbed of all its meaning and value if provincial laws could be enforced denying freedom of discussion." Such restrictions, our contemporary argued, "once successfully asserted, could be extended to any length." And: "All the provinces could do what Quebec is doing, and if they all passed padlock laws, the way would be opened to the speedy overthrow of democracy and the establishment of a dictatorship."

The Ottawa Journal, recognizing the fact that "Mr. King and his Ministers may reason that Quebec's case is surrounded by peculiar difficulties," argued that "if the price of peace within Confederation is lawlessness by a particular provincial government, involving invasion of men's homes, their arrest without warrants, and the denial to them of civil rights and liberties, including the right to appeal to the courts, then that sort of peace can bring no good to Canada. Its price is too high."

It will be recalled that only a short time ago the Dominion Government recommended disallowance of several Acts passed by the Legislature of Alberta because their provisions imposed restrictions repugnant to the fundamental rights which the people of this country enjoy under the terms of the British North America Act. Minister of Justice Lapointe himself was an ardent advocate of the repeal of Section 98 of the Criminal Code. This had its genesis during the session of 1918, at a time of considerable unrest throughout the Dominion, which had culminated in the Winnipeg strike of May, 1919. Its main object was the "discouragement" of Communism, providing for the punishment of persons who had "attended meetings of an unlawful association; or spoken publicly in advocacy of an unlawful association; distributed literature of an unlawful association by circulation through the post office mails of Canada, or otherwise; it shall be presumed, in the absence of proof to the contrary, that he is a member of such unlawful association."

The present government at Ottawa effected the removal of that section of the Criminal Code of Canada, just as it took the necessary steps to have disallowed the more recent Alberta legislation. As we have referred elsewhere in these columns to the inconsistency of a former Prime Minister, we suggest, too, that Mr. Lapointe's explanations of the government's reason for not recommending disallowance of Quebec's Padlock Act are strangely out of harmony with his previous constitutional attitude.

Wasting Our Chief Asset

THE MAN-POWER OF A NATION IS usually listed as its chief asset. If that be true of Canada, we can understand persons who, disheartened at the sight, turn cynical towards our social and economic order when they see the army of ablebodied young men idling in and around the abandoned hotel buildings and deserted brothels in the lower part of Victoria.

There the man-power of the thousand sit-downers from Vancouver is being wasted at the height of the open season and in a new country crying for better roads, for better housing and for public improvements of every kind.

Irrespective of where the blame may lie, there is being perpetrated a waste for which the country as a whole must pay.

Notes

We plant in hope, pray for rain, harvest in joy. Then a big crop proves a calamity.

Vancouver has dumped its sit-down and tin-canning problem into Victoria's lap. It is the first instance of Vancouver being anxious to share anything with Victoria.

The storm Hon. Arthur Meighen raised at the Conservative National Convention this week by his keynote address recalls that raised by him at the similar gathering in Winnipeg in 1927. Then Mr. Meighen spoke for more than an hour in defence of his Hamilton speech of 1925 in which he had declared that in the event of war, the people of Canada should be consulted in a general election before Canadian troops would be permitted to participate. This brought a clash before the convention with the Hon. Howard Ferguson. The clash definitely cost Mr. Meighen the party leadership when Mr. Ferguson threw his support and that of his Ontario delegates behind Mr. Bennett. Mr. Ferguson went so far as to say that he would quit the convention if it endorsed Mr. Meighen's views. This time Mr. Meighen about-turned and by talking ultra-Imperialistically to please Ontario so riled the Quebec delegation that yesterday they were threatening to withdraw. Mr. Meighen has at least done his bit to perpetuate the party split.

CANADA GETS MOROCCAN COAL

From Brockville Recorder-Times

And now comes word that cargoes of anthracite from Morocco are arriving on the St. Lawrence. One cargo has reached Quebec in a tramp steamer and another will shortly arrive in Montreal. There is, indeed, a possibility that a dozen cargoes of Morocco coal will be absorbed by the Canadian market during the season. As it is said to be of rich quality, it may replace Russian anthracite, which seems to be out of the Canadian picture this year. But coal from French Indo-China may return.

OLD CARS

IF YOU WANT TO LEARN about human nature, try hitch-hiking. A young fellow of my acquaintance has been hitch-hiking to Chemainus and back every week-end and he tells me human nature is getting harder all the time. A year ago, he tells me, you could always get a lift, but lately, though there are more cars on the roads, there are fewer and fewer lifts.

This confirms a theory I have long held, that human nature has definitely toughened since the beginning of the first depression and we have become so used to misery on all sides that we don't pay so much attention to it as we used to in the old days.

But my young friend's other observation is more significant—he said that he nearly always got a lift in an old battered car, driven by some poor man; very seldom in a nice new car, driven by a prosperous man and almost never in a car driven by a tourist. The Americans are even tougher than we are. And, on the road as elsewhere, it is the poor who like to give most. You will generally find in life that you get your lifts in an old and battered car.

HONKY-TONKS

SPEAKING OF ROADS, the picture paper "Life" has done a good job of photographing the highways of the United States and showing what a glorious mess the Americans are making of them. The grisly exhibits of highway signs, barbecues, hot-dog stands, soda joints and dine-and-dance haunts, are really astonishing. "Life" so ornamented them that they have become the Supreme Honky-Tonk of the Ages.

This is quite true and it ought to be a warning to us. If we have no sense of decency ourselves, if we are afflicted by the same streak of cheap vulgarity which affects a part of the American people and blossoms forth on their highways, then from a purely cold-blooded business standpoint we ought to avoid their mistake. If we could guarantee the American tourist freedom from the honky-tonk, if we could assure him that in British Columbia he wouldn't have his eyes and ears assaulted at every turn in the road, he would come here in increasing numbers simply to get away from the horror at home.

It would be good business for British Columbia, if we don't want to put it on a higher plane, to forbid any billboards visible from our roads and our city streets at all; banish all the ghastly pictures of cigarette-smoking girls, bathing-suit girls, pickle-eating, pop-drinking, pill-taking girls from the landscape altogether. It is illegal now to put a sign on a road and this is fairly well enforced; but you can select the prettiest meadow or the finest hill just beyond the road limit and plaster it with a bathing-suit girl which instantly creates an accident hazard among the male drivers, and there is no law to stop you. Within 10 years our roads will be as honky-tonky as those of the United States.

IN TALLAPOOSA COUNTY

SOME STRANGE THINGS happen in the United States. You take what happened to Mr. Grady Lafayette Evers. Mr. Evers was a candidate for tax collector of Tallapoosa County, Ala., and, affected by the billboardboard advertising complex, he ordered 2,500 booklets of paper matches to distribute to his constitutents during a celebration in Tallapoosa County. On the packages were printed the words: "G. L. Evers, candidate for tax collector. Honest and able."

When the crowds assembled, the matches were distributed on behalf of honest and able Mr. Evers. According to his bill of complaint, later filed in the courts, "the plaintiff and his loyal aides ambitiously distributed the match booklets to the spirited tempo of patriotic airs. Gradually these staunch voters of Tallapoosa County had occasion to open their booklets of matches to light up their cheroots and as each did so the booklet was immediately and indignantly closed and concealed from the eyes of the women-folk or younger persons thereabout."

And it turned out, according to the legal document before the courts of America, that inside of each booklet of matches was printed a picture of a small boy polluting a running stream of water and the words, "Don't drink water—drink beer." And Mr. Evers says that, as a result, he came third in his election for tax collector and he asks damages of $125,000 from the match manufacturers.

The electors of Tallapoosa County evidently are sensitive and refined. Half the menus in the better hotels of Europe carry pictures and legends exactly like those on Mr. Evers' match boxes and nobody thinks anything of it. But in Europe tax collectors don't have to get elected.

Hitler never had a sweetheart; doesn't smoke or drink; cares nothing for money, food, clothes or friends. No wonder they think he is divine or crazy.

"They were hunted down by soldiers, their property confiscated, their homes burned; those who resisted deportation were shot." Hitler's victims? Oh, no, only our North American Indians 100 years ago.

TRIUMPH

"Hands Across the Border" will be Robert Taylor's next picture for M-G-M, and concerns the friendly rivalry existing between the United States Military Academy and Canada's West Point at Kingston, Ont. . . . Studio representatives were sent to Kingston to secure official consent and informed them that Taylor would be starred in the movie . . . At first there was hesitancy. Then came sudden consent, when the officials learned the further detail—that Taylor would portray a West Pointer and NOT a Canadian cadet.

USING THE NEW LEISURE

SIDE-STEPPING THE REAL ISSUES

From Vancouver Sun

We had settled down, we must confess, with no little interest, to hear an announcement by the Conservative convention in Ottawa of some good constructive policy for the expansion and development of Canada.

Our hopes appear to have been blasted.

The first day produced nothing about the creation of new wealth, nothing about a national program of growth, nothing about a plan for placing in self-sustaining jobs those thousands of men who have been reduced to beggary, nothing about righting the imbalance of trade and credit between east and west.

But what did happen was that the Conservative veterans were permitted to remove from the party archives those old banners of patriotism that blinded Canadians in 1911 and whipped them overseas in 1914 and fly them full blaze in the July air.

The convention, in other words, degenerated into an orgy of flag waving.

WHY ENGLISH - SPEAKING ONTARIO CONSERVATIVES OPPOSE DR. MANION

From Toronto Saturday Night

Much as the Conservative party as a whole may deplore it, questions of religion are bound to become a factor in the choice which the convention makes. It may or it may not be bigotry, but it is the truth. And the fact that the Roman Catholic Church, within practically a week of the convention, has staged a great national congress which, in addition to being a demonstration of faith, could not help being impressive for its suggestion of political strength, is not calculated to help Dr. Manion's cause in Protestant quarters. Furthermore, the issue which clericalism presents in politics is becoming less and less a matter of bigotry and more and more a matter of economics. Modern economic doctrines in many of their forms are showing an increasingly inherent tendency to collide with church authority, while clericalism itself is evidencing an even more avowed partiality for other economic movements. The striking illustration in Canada is in Quebec, where the move for a corporate state is proceeding almost wholly under clerical auspices.

WHY KENNEDY CAME HOME

WASHINGTON, D.C.

Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy's visit from London back to this country, despite rumors of proposals for British debt settlement and other sensational reasons, had more to do with the problem of taking care of Jewish refugees from Germany than anything else.

Kennedy, according to friends with whom he talks intimately, believes war in Europe is more nearly imminent than any diplomat would publicly suggest.

Although the ambassador thinks Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's policies are meritorious and practical, he believes opposition to them in England is rising so rapidly that Chamberlain is not likely to last out the summer in office.

He agrees with the widespread opinion that any subsequent British government would be sure to present a strong front against Germany and Italy and that this attitude would greatly increase danger of a general conflict.

Parallel Thoughts

1. What is wrong with this sentence? "They hope to pass the ordnance at their next meeting."

2. What is the correct pronunciation of "Butte" (Montana)?

3. Which one of these words is misspelled? Reverberation, retinue, reumatism, reconnoitre.

4. What does the word "essence" mean?

5. What is a word beginning with ind that means "not to be subdued"?

ANSWERS

1. Say ordinance, which means a law, or regulation. Ordnance means military supplies. 2. Pronounce but, u as in unit. 3. Rheumatism. 4. That which makes a thing what it is; a necessary constituent. "The essence of belief is faith." 5. Indomitable.

Letters to the Editor

DOESN'T BLAME SIT-DOWNERS FOR SHUNNING PRAIRIES

To the Editor:—A letter asks, "Why should we pay outsiders, but I should like to ask the writer if he was ever hung up or dead broke or even badly bent in any town or city as I was, and did not know where his next meal or dollar was coming from?

As to the riot in Vancouver, the unemployed should have never been allowed to occupy the post office at all in the first place. Authorities could and should have stopped them. I remember quite well in Regina during the July 1, 1935, riot, not one of that lot of unemployed were allowed to stay in either the post office or city hall there.

This certainly is a wide land of opportunity, and if the federal government will only co-operate with the provincial governments, the unemployment problem will soon be solved.

I don't blame these unemployed for not wanting to go back to that beastly, bare prairie country and wait in hopes of getting good harvest and threshing jobs, when there is a chance of new roads construction work here in British Columbia.

As to paying them to stay, I don't know of anyone doing that. But a few people with sympathetic fellow-feeling have given them donations. As I have some sympathetic, fellow-feeling and if I like to donate a dollar or two, I think I am at liberty to do so, as it comes from my own English income which I am spending in Canada.

PATTULLO SUPPORTED AGAINST SIT-DOWNERS

To the Editor: — Some correspondents are absolutely unfair in their criticism of Hon. T. D. Pattullo and the provincial government for not dealing with the transient unemployed who have come to Victoria in a body seeking work in some magical wand-waving manner that would find jobs for all immediately. It is quite obvious from the attitude in the letters that these writers have not both sides of the situation very well in mind.

Why censure an individual or a group, such as the provincial government, who have been doing as well as could reasonably be expected for the people of British Columbia in a project such as the new modern $4,000,000 Pattullo Bridge over the Fraser River at New Westminster; a $1,500,000 works program recently published in the press and the Premier's negotiations for the Alaskan Road, all within a year, when one considers that unemployment is world wide? Certainly nothing is gained by so doing. The fact that a mass of unemployed have come here to find work might be taken as complimentary to the progress made by the present Pattullo government.

Some people do not seem to consider what would happen if the British Columbia government undertook, unaided and on their own initiative, to attempt the impossible task of giving employment to all who came here from other parts of Canada, as much as they might like to do so. In a very short time there would be no taxpayers — then no government. Then, there is the unemployed British Columbian to consider. Surely he is entitled to first consideration in any work scheme. In most cases, he was a former taxpayer here.

The migration of men to the prairies for harvest work years ago was an entirely different matter from that of the unemployed coming here today. In those days, the farmers had to secure labor from everywhere in order to harvest their crops and advertised and secured such help in the United States as well as in Canada.

There is no denying that there may be political foes of the provincial government who might see in the present transient unemployment situation an opportunity to attempt to discredit it in the eyes of the public, regardless of the absurdity of so doing.

It might be well to state that there are those in British Columbia who can still take a reasonable view of the unemployment situation as it exists today, though they have been out of work for many years and are still seeking a job while subsisting at home.

FOR A RETIRED COLONEL

To the Editor:—It is interesting that Lieutenant-Colonel Moore has been asking representatives of various groups of society their attitude to the "sit-downers," at present in Victoria. He has been kind enough to publish results of his survey and I would respectfully suggest to him that he continue his investigations in this manner, so as to determine and publish (preferably without Biblical references) what the citizenry think about retired colonels.

HUMAN VS. PROPERTY RIGHTS

To the Editor:—Since the window breaking episode of June 19 in Vancouver we have heard a great deal about "property rights" from property owners and their supporters, but, had we had as great a flare of sentiment focussed on "human rights" this unfortunate circumstance would never have happened.

According to the late Clarence Darrow, in his "Crime, Its Cause and Treatment," "not less than 80 per cent of all crimes are property crimes, and it seems probable that, of the rest, most arise from the same motives. No one familiar with courts and prisons can fail to observe the close relation between poverty and crime." He goes on:

"Most of the criminal cases would be prevented if the state would undertake to improve the general social and economic condition of those who get the least. Only a fraction of the money spent on human destruction, in war and out, would give an education adapted to the individual, even to the most defective. Only a few of the defective, physically and mentally, would be left for courts to place in an environment where both they and society could live. Perhaps some time this work will be seriously taken up. Until then we shall muddle along, fixing and changing and punishing and destroying; we shall follow the old course of the ages, which has no purpose, method, or end, and leaves only infinite suffering in its path.

"To be all-knowing is to be all-understanding, and this is infinitely better than to be all-forgiving.

"Assuming that the scientific attitude toward crime should be accepted by those who make public opinion, and that this should become crystallized into written law, the problem would be easy."

OAK BAY'S FIREMEN

To the Editor:—Do the residents of Oak Bay know the conditions under which the members of the Oak Bay Fire Brigade exist?

For their information I would state that I have learned from reliable sources that they are on duty for 24 hours for three consecutive days, during which time they have to do their own cooking.

After these three days, they have one day off. On this so-called day off they have two and a half hours' drill. How can this be called a day off?

These conditions may be all right for single men, but for a married man they have a tendency to ruin the home life. The salary for all this is $80 per month.

Probably the Oak Bay Council may have other arrangements after the period of probation is over.

Considering that the City Fire Brigade work on the two-platoon system and receive over $140 per month, I think the boys in Oak Bay should have something better to look forward to.

R. C. PEMBRIDGE.

COURAGE NEEDED

To the Editor:—If you look back in your files you will see an eye-witness account of the beginning of the Spanish civil war. Exactly the same situation prevailed in ports of Spain as in Vancouver and the disorders were caused by the same agents. There was this difference, however. In Spain a weak government ordered its civil guards to remain in barracks and leave the mob to work its wile under the leadership of alien agents. Here in Canada our government, while not by any means a perfect one (what government is?) had the officers of the law do their duty. A fight resulted and usually people get hurt in a fight.

The police acted on orders—they are not responsible for what happened?

It would seem to be the case that many who use authority have yet to learn the real meaning of responsibility.

It is the duty of governments to govern for the good of the governed, to face all issues with real courage and seek their solutions regardless of prejudice or self-interest, otherwise—

RETIRED DUTCH NAVY OFFICER REPLIES

To the Editor:—If Mr. Grieve had the power to do so, he would send me (and my family, I suppose) out of the country! And why? Because I insist on the right of "free expression of opinion" wherever I am. Perhaps I can alleviate part of Mr. Grieve's grief by stating a few facts:

Esquimalt District Council, C.C.F's letter had my signature as chairman, because the chairman would not be present at Sunday, June 19, meeting, having been called to Winnipeg, and since the delegates of the clubs in this district elected me as vice-chairman this year. I should say he can hardly blame me for that election; those delegates must have had some reason! The letter in question was drawn up by a committee of three delegates, proposed from the floor of the meeting, and approved unanimously by the council. Can Mr. Grieve do it more dramatically?

"I wonder has Mr. Staverman told the public that he is not a Canadian citizen?" says Mr. Grieve. I should say I have; if Mr. Grieve has ever been at a Langford annual school meeting he should have heard it there. When I came to this country, over 11 years ago, I had voice and vote at such a meeting; could be a member of the school board as a noncitizen. The Tolmie government took that right away and the subsequent Liberal (!) Pattullo government, had, so far, not restored that right, which was one of the reasons for coming here! Some residents of Langford have tried their level best, year after year, to even prevent me of having "voice" at those school meetings, trying to "railroad" their reactionary proposals through.

Why am I not a "Canadian citizen" yet after 11 years here? Simply because I had earned a small pension, on which we have to live in the first place, and I would lose that pension (though having paid for same!) if I should become naturalized as a Canadian, and since Canada—under the present capitalistic setup—has failed to provide me and my family with a living.

Mr. Grieve is mistaken again, where he says: "I fancy there (the land of his birth) he wouldn't be allowed such freedom of speech." On the contrary, in Holland and the Dutch East Indies, the right of "free speech" goes further than in Canada. As an officer in the Dutch navy and a civil servant in the Dutch East Indies, I have made every use of that right; I will admit that there always are authorities who try to curtail that right (if you are no yes-man), even there, but they cannot get away with it if the person in question "stands fast."

Mr. Grieve will probably be surprised to hear that, in the spring of 1927, the representatve of the Canadian government in Holland, Major Bartlett-Buchanan and Capt. Springett, agent of the private C.P.R. in Rotterdam, had other opinions about the suitability of my family and self as emigrants to Canada than he evidently has. Both paid me a visit at my home in the country; invited me to be their guest at a lunch in Rotterdam in order to have more time to talk things over; both saw us off on board when we left Rotterdam on April 28, 1927, and both gave me letters of recommendation to associates and friends in this country.

Chapter Fete In Ideal Setting

Gonzales I.O.D.E. Held Delightful Party At Mrs. W. C. Nichols'

Perfect weather and an ideal setting, together with a worthy beneficiary cause, combined to prove an irresistible attraction which drew many visitors to the Rockland Avenue home of Mrs. Walter C. Nichol yesterday afternoon. The occasion was the annual garden party of Gonzales Chapter, I.O.D.E., and the handsome sum of $200 was realized for the furtherance of the chapter's work.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake, the regent, in welcoming the many guests. Mrs. Kyrle Symonds, municipal regent, formally opened the affair with a graceful little speech of congratulation and good wishes.

Tea was served alfresco fashion, in the shade of the trees. Mrs. Stuart Robertson, assisted by Mrs. H. J. Davis and Mrs. Saxton White, had charge of the tea arrangements and members of the Royal Bride Chapter, I.O.D.E., gave great assistance as waitresses.

CHARMING DANCES

Little pupils of the Russian Ballet School, their charming costumes vieing with the flowers in color, danced with youthful grace on the lower lawn near the rose garden, and were warmly applauded.

The various stalls were arranged against the picturesque background of flower beds and trees. Mrs. C. B. Peterson sold the ice cream; Mrs. B. H. T. Drake, Mrs. W. R. Hobbs and Mrs. G. Denbigh, had charge of the novelty stall; Mrs. Guillod was at the home-cooking table, and Mrs. W. Jennings was in charge of teacup reading. The bag contest was won by Mrs. Drake, and Mrs. F. G. Hood won the cake contest.

Miss Cicely Holmes, as "The Lady With a Hundred Pockets" was in great demand, many treasures being drawn from her voluminous crinoline.

Through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams, their lawn was available for a putting contest, in charge of Miss Norma Macdonald and Mrs. Fessenden.

Bridge and mah jong was played in the house, with 15 tables in play. Mrs. E. G. Prior had charge of the arrangements.

New O.C.'s Family Arrive

Mrs. J. C. Stewart, wife of Brigadier Stewart, the new officer commanding Military District No. 11, who, with her children, arrived recently from London, Ontario, photographed by the Times cameraman yesterday in the gardens at The Angela, where they are staying pending their taking up residence at Work Point Barracks. From left to right are: Val., Jamie and Sheila and Mrs. Stewart. Another daughter, Elizabeth, is visiting friends in Calgary, en route to Victoria.

Society

Miss Lillian Stevenson, Simcoe Street, will leave tomorrow for Calgary to spend a couple of weeks with friends.

Miss Dorothy Matthews of Kamloops is spending a week in Victoria as the guest of Dr. and Mrs. S. J. Willis, Fort Street.

Mrs. G. E. Smith, 1040 Empress Avenue, left on the R.M.S. Niagara last night for Australia, on an extended visit to her brothers.

Mrs. James Edmunds of Britannia Mine is spending the summer months with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jennings Burnett, Niagara Street.

Mrs. Archibald Cowan of Fish Lake, B.C., paid a brief visit yesterday to her aunt, Miss C. I. Whillans, and left on the afternoon boat for Vancouver.

Mr. Percy Bland of Vancouver, after spending a few days in Victoria with friends, has gone out to Glenairley, Sooke, to spend a week.

Miss Joyce Pillar, Hampshire Road, Oak Bay, has returned from Port Alberni, where she has been visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Macfie.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Gordon, Lotus Avenue, who have been spending the last week in Lake Quinault, Lake Crescent, and Seattle, have returned home.

Mrs. George E. Wilson of Port Hammond is spending a couple of weeks at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hersey, East Saanich Road.

Miss Maryan Peterson and Miss Daphne Simmons left on Wednesday night's boat for the Cariboo, to spend a holiday at the "Flying U" Dude Ranch.

Mrs. A. J. Darcus of Vancouver returned this afternoon to her home on the mainland after visiting on Vancouver Island with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Moody of Brentwood.

Major J. E. Mathews of Tacoma has joined Mrs. Mathews, who has been visiting Victoria, and they have left on their yacht to spend a couple of week cruising in coastal waters.

Mrs. H. J. Schramli received a cable this morning announcing the birth of a daughter, Ann Monica, to her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Jones, at Tsingtao, China, yesterday. Mrs. Jones was formerly Miss Doris M. Schramli of this city.

Mrs. B. A. Boate, Estevan Avenue, returned home yesterday afternoon after a two months' trip to the east, during which she was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Gerald Folkins, in Calgary, and also visited friends in Regina, Winnipeg, Ottawa and Montreal.

Mr. Kenneth Ferguson, district manager of the Imperial Life Assurance Company, has returned from Minaki, Ontario, where he attended the convention of the Canadian representatives of his company, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Scott-Moncrieff of Vancouver have returned home after visiting Mr. Scott-Moncrieff's parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Scott-Moncrieff, Richardson Street.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Weydert of Nanaimo will arrive tomorrow to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Weydert, pending her marriage to Mr. Thomas Noel Curteis of Ladysmith, which is to take place this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Waterman, formerly Miss Eleanor Dopp, who have been spending their honeymoon up the island, have returned to Victoria and taken up their residence on St. Patrick Street, Oak Bay.

In honor of Miss May Pollard, whose marriage to Mr. Albie Davies will take place shortly, Miss Noreen Creelman entertained a few friends yesterday evening at her home on Beach Drive at a miscellaneous shower.

Miss Ethyl Aitken was the guest of honor at a "no-host" dinner party given at the Chalet, Deep Cove, on Tuesday evening by the members of her bridge club. During the evening the guest of honor was presented with a lovely cut-glass dish and corsage bouquet of pink carnations and ferns. Covers were laid for Mrs. Norman Collins, Mrs. W. Bromley, Mrs. H. Bradshaw, Misses Ethyl Aitken, Alice Findler, Hazel McLennan, Mollie Lawrence and Dorothea Daniels, at a table prettily arranged and centred with carnations and sweet peas.

A number of her associates at the Hudson's Bay Company store paid a surprise visit to Miss A. J. K. Caddens at her home in the Field Apartments on Tuesday evening to honor her on the eve of her approaching marriage. The bride-to-be was presented with a corsage bouquet of pink carnations and a set of six silver salad forks, with their united good wishes. Those present included Misses L. Tanner, P. Mulliner, M. McDowell, B. Pearce, H. Mann, F. Petticrew, I. Restall and A. Hardisty, Mrs. J. Burden, Mrs. J. Hogarth, Mrs. W. Williams and Mrs. J. Williams.

Mrs. H. W. Curtis was hostess at her home on Camosun Street yesterday afternoon at a novelty pantry and provision shower in honor of Mrs. Kenneth Waterman, formerly Miss Eleanor Dopp. The gifts were arranged on the shelves of a china cabinet which was opened by the bride, who was also presented with a corsage bouquet of Sweetheart roses and fern, tied with silver ribbon. Miss Vivian Curtis assisted the guest of honor in opening her gifts. The reception rooms were decorated with pink snapdragons and blue delphiniums, and the tea table was arranged with an ecru filet cloth, and silver rose bowl on a mirror centre, holding pink snapdragons and pale blue delphiniums and fern. From the chandelier were suspended pastel-shaded ribbons, caught to the corners of the table with bows and small silver vases of rosebuds. Pink candy baskets added a further attractive note. Contests were won by Mrs. Roy Darcus, Mrs. C. Harris, Miss K. Waterman, Miss G. Stevenson, Miss Edith Smith (Prince Rupert), Mrs. J. J. Hawkins, Mrs. J. C. Hawkes, Miss Evelyn Dopp, Miss Audrey Harte and Miss Vivian Curtis. The guests were Mesdames D. W. Dopp, H. A. Waterman, A. M. Curtis, E. McIntyre, J. C. Hawkes, Roy Darcus, M. Fletcher, R. Creech, J. J. Hawkins, P. Nielson, C. Harris, T. Campbell, C. Cumming, G. Cooper, W. J. Wilson, J. Sinclair, Ted Harte and Misses K. Waterman, Audrey Harte, E. Smith, Gladys Nielson, Grace Stephenson, Helen Isbister, Flossie Driver, Evelyn Oliver, Thelma, Evelyn and Doreen Dopp and Vivian Curtis.

Bishop Cloak Was Guest At Fete

Church of Our Lord Benefits From Yesterday's Party

Rt. Rev. Frank V. Cloak of Philadelphia, presiding bishop of the Reformed Episcopal Church of America, who was accompanied by Mrs. Cloak, formally opened the garden party held in the attractive gardens at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Snape, Tattersal Drive, yesterday afternoon.

The affair was held in aid of the funds of the Church of Our Lord, and Peter Shandley assisted the host and hostess in arranging the details. Rev. T. H. Laundy introduced Bishop Cloak.

Tea was served on the lawn beneath the cherry trees, laden with ripe fruit, which were at the disposal of the guests. Mrs. A. G. Monahan was convener of the tea arrangements, assisted by Mrs. Tobin, Mrs. A. Norris and Miss Newbury, with members of the Young People's Society, under the direction of Muriel Creech, assisting in serving.

Bingo, under the management of Capt. E. C. Snape, was popular, as also was racing fish, under the direction of W. Smith. Bran pie, in charge of Sylvia Stewart, was a favorite with the children, and the treasure hunt, under the supervision of Miss Hester Duke, aroused much fun. Ice cream was sold by Mrs. V. Duke; candy, the Misses Murray; cherries, Gertrude Paul, and home cooking, Mrs. Lupton and Miss Lloyd. A fancywork stall, convened by Mrs. Stanley Martin, did a thriving business, and the clock golf, in charge of Diana Russell, attracted a large gathering.

Over 300 Guests At Hatley Park

Many American visitors were among the 300 patrons of the garden party held in the beautiful gardens of Hatley Park yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Colwood Women's Institute.

Mrs. H. Barker, vice-president of the institute, was general convener of the party, and Mrs. R. B. Murray and Miss Ethel Brown had charge of the gate receipts. Ice cream was sold by Mrs. J. Goodall, Mrs. E. Sheilds and Miss K. Goodall; Mrs. A. Godfrey had charge of the tea tickets, and tea, which was served on the lawn below the Italian Garden, was in charge of Mrs. B. W. Parker, Mrs. E. Wishart, Mrs. W. Brown, Mrs. J. Martin, Mrs. E. Peatt, Mrs. C. Carnegie, Mrs. S. Lang, Mrs. S. Vallis and Mrs. E. C. Parker.

The proceeds will be devoted to the Queen Alexandra Solarium for Crippled Children and for the community work fund of the institute.

Frontier Women Find Aid In W.I. Movement

Peace River Districts Benefit Materially and Spiritually, Institute Conference is Told; Community Betterment

By ELIZABETH BAILEY PRICE
Canadian Press Correspondent

VANCOUVER (CP) — Life would be dull in most districts of the Peace River country if it were not for women's institutes, said Mrs. Ann Hartnell of Shearerdale in her report on the Peace River district to the Women's Institutes of British Columbia in convention here today.

"We began 12 years ago," read Mrs. Hartnell, "and today have 21 branches with an approximate membership of 300.

"They build and maintain social activities, help local hospitals, promote educational and cultural activities. The West group sponsors a dramatic festival which has been going for seven years and is one of the big events of the north. Members make dyes from wild flowers, to dye wool from local sheep which is hooked into beautiful rugs.

FRONTIER WOMEN

Mrs. J. F. Price, Vancouver, Provincial Secretary, supplemented the report with more facts about frontier women's institutes.

"There are six in the Bulkley Valley with a membership of 134. Although cash is scarce, pioneer institutes have raised more than $3,000 yearly, all of which has been expended on the district in which it has been raised. Other branches might do more to brighten lives of northern members, and she suggested sending boxes of fruit seeds, shrubs, etc."

SOCIAL WORK

Mrs. H. H. Pitts, Nelson, reporting for the Nelson, Kootenay and Arrow Lake districts, considered the social work for new Canadians and provision of wholesome entertainment for young people the most important achievement of her district. "Many junior institutes are being formed," she said, "W.I. members are teaching teenage girls to sew and cook." In one community a group of young Doukhobor girls were taught Canadian cooking and Canadian girls learned to make some Doukhobor dishes. A young Chinese nurse taught another group to make "chow mein."

Mrs. Pitts has organized 12 new institutes in her district, all "live wires."

Mrs. M. A. Bryant, Courtenay, for the committee on public health and child welfare, gave the Nelson, Kootenay and Arrow Lake districts prominent place in her report.

EYE SERVICE

Outstanding nationally is the eye service financed by the Mary E. Davidson memorial fund, administered by a committee headed by Mrs. H. H. Pitts. It has provided for 73 eye examinations, purchase of 53 pairs of glasses and three operations on children's eyes. More than $1,000 is still to be expended on those in the Kootenay district, needing and not being able to finance eye treatment.

At the Nelson "well baby" clinic, 217 babies have been examined. Ymir, Trail and Salmo have sponsored similar clinics. Thrums sent a Doukhobor girl to the Queen Alexander Solarium at Mill Bay for treatment. Creston, Arrow Park, Wyndall and Nakusp have furnished and maintain private wards in hospitals. Creston has supplied a surgical for crippled boy and sent a child to the deaf and blind institute in Vancouver.

HOME ECONOMICS

The Institutes reaffirmed their stand on the re-establishing of the chair of home economics in the University of British Columbia. This followed a discussion on home economics at the W.I. convention yesterday.

The resolution has been urged on the provincial government several times by Women's Institutes as well as other organizations. Mrs. Mead Robins, Royal Oak, in speaking of it, stated that other provinces had this, why not British Columbia?

How to get rid of insect pests and weeds, how to save Cuthbert raspberries, which are rapidly becoming extinct, how to grow the finest strawberries, and what is "dish pan gardening" were some of the questions raised at a round table talk on agriculture, led by J. B. Munro, Victoria, deputy minister of agriculture. Previously Mr. Munro brought up several matters which he thought women's institute members might remedy.

BACK-TO-LAND IDEA

He deplored the "too prevalent" sale of soft drinks instead of "cold milk and buttermilk" in villages and the use of condensed milk in restaurants.

The "back to the land" movement is all right for people with some money, he contended, "but we do not want to place people there, who eventually will have to go on relief and be a burden to those who have been trying to make a go of the land for years.

Mrs. M. L. Tomer, Barnstan Island, provincial convener of agriculture, gave her report.

Mrs. V. S. McLachlan, Victoria, superintendent Women's Institute, spoke on institute work and method, provoking a discussion on worthwhile programs, how to get members, organization of junior institutes.

NEW CANADIANS

New Canadians of Chinese, Japanese, Swedish, Ukranian, Dalmatian, Croatian, Czeshoslovakian, Serbian and Moravian birth or ancestry united to present a "Canadian Mosaic" entertainment to the delegates last night.

"Our duty to Canadian nationalism," said Mrs. John T. McCay, president of the Vancouver Folk Festival Society," is to appreciate the finest in our new settlers and forget prejudices. We want to foster good homes, and there are no greater home appreciating people than our orientals."

Duchess of Kent Will Welcome Delegates

At International Council's Fete At Holyroodhouse

LONDON—Some 35 nationalities will be represented by women delegates to the great Jubilee Conference of the International Council of Women, which opens in Edinburgh on July 11.

Lady Ruth Balfour presided at a reception at the Sesame Club here recently where final arrangements for the conference were discussed.

Lady Ruth announced that the Duchess of Kent had consented to be patroness of the conference and that she was going to Edinburgh to meet the delegates at a garden party to be held in the Palace of Holyroodhouse.

"Fifty years ago the International Council of Women began with seven members," Lady Ruth said. "Today there are 36 countries among its members and 33 of these will be present at the conference.

"Unfortunately, the German Council of Women has dissolved, but we are proud to think that Italy has been a member for a number of years and is sending a strong delegation to Edinburgh."

SOCIETY

Miss Hyslop Gray, who has been holidaying in California, arrived from the south today and is the guest of Miss Doreen Cattroll, 499 St. Charles Street. Miss Cattroll will accompany Miss Gray to her home in New Westminster for a short visit.

Members of the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club entertained at a jolly dance at the pavilion last evening at the conclusion of the Pacific Northwestern Junior Centre tournament, about 40 of the players and their friends attending. Miss Jackson, president of the ladies' committee of the club, and Mr. Reg. Corfield, club president, arranged the details of the dance. Refreshments were served during the evening.

Guests staying at the Shawnigan Beach Hotel include Mr. G Anton, Vancouver; Ensign and Mrs. John V. Noel, Seattle; Mr and Mrs. J. N. Buckwalter, Los Angeles; Mr. J. D. Murchie, Vancouver; Mr. W. A. Smith, Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Fysh, Los Angeles; Mr. C. D. Reeves, Seattle; Mr. A. E. Ormond, Victoria; Miss Mildred Brooks, Seattle.

Lady members of the Gorge Vale Golf Club to the number of 38 held a most enjoyable "get-together" at the clubhouse yesterday evening, the affair being arranged by the ladies' committee. Putting competitions were staged, the winners in the various classes being: Under 24 handicap, 1, Mrs. H. P. Hodges; 2, Mrs. Attree; 25 handicap and over, 1, Mrs. M. E. MacIntosh; 2, Mrs. C. H. Cross; 36 handicap, 1, Miss Victoria Gleason; 2, Miss Thomas. Supper was served at 6 at tables centred with bowls of pink sweet peas, delphinium and spirea, similar flowers being arranged throughout the clubhouse by the committee, under the direction of Mrs. D. W. Morry, Mrs. A. T. Hunkin and Mrs. D. R. Hurdle, the secretary. Mrs. H. H. Allen, the captain, welcomed the new members and presented the prizes to the winners.

Scouts Are Hosts At Garden Party

Cadboro Bay Sea Scouts yesterday afternoon played host at a garden party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Inglis, "The Mystic Spring," Cadboro Bay.

In the opening ceremony the Scouts, Girl Guides and Cubs were arranged in horseshoe formation on the lawn as William Inglis introduced Charles Hensley, president of the Scouts' Association, who outlined the principles of scouting.

The breaking of the flag by Patrol Leader Gordon Harwood was followed by the playing of O Canada by Rowles Boys' Band.

The various stalls were well patronized, tea, home cooking, housie-housie, spinning jenny, candy, horseshoe pitching and coconut shies being among the attractions.

A large cake was won by Miss Phyllis Harwood and Mrs. A. H. C. Phipps. Mrs. Paget won the ladies' prize for horseshoe pitching, and Mr. Inglis won the men's prize.

Government scientists are studying a process of seasoning lumber with salt.

Conference Told By Mrs. J. L. White Of Splendid Work

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mrs. J. L. White of Victoria, first vice-president, today told the annual convention Women's Institutes of British Columbia here of the work of the 34 institutes, with an approximate membership of 864, who raised $8,500, majority of which was expended for community betterment, Mrs. White said.

Royal Oak, South Saanich and Brentwood have united in improving high school grounds. Quathiaski interested the war veterans in cleaning up the cemetery and purchased a new gate for it.

Queen Alexandra Solarium receives much assistance in the form of cash donations, egg, fruit and vegetable showers and linen.

Handicraft work is a major activity, Victoria having just completed a hand-weaving exhibition. Lake Hill, Brentwood, Esquimalt, South Saanich, Pender Island, Parksville, have held quilting bees and sponsored handicraft classes.

Interest in fall fairs is active—Parksville, Qualicum, Langford, Luxton and Happy Valley have co-operated with the fall fair at Colwood. Pender Island joins with the Farmer's Institute in assisting the local fair. Luxton and Happy Valley sponsored a "root and seed fair."

Craigflower, the "baby institute," has organized first aid classes and Somenos members are taking a course in home nursing. Ganges, Pender Island, Shirley, Quathiaski and Langford have supported dental, baby and preschool clinics.

Parksville has organized a class to learn cheesemaking.

Royal Oak has taken a lead in the community in adult education classes—the latest venture being a course in public speaking.

Lake Hill and Cedar members are compiling histories of their communities.

ENGLISH STAR WEDS

LONDON—Miss Lily Brayton, co-star with her late husband, Mr. Oscar Asche, in "Chu Chin Chow," was married this week to Mr. Douglas Chalmers Watson at Marylebone Register Office. Among the guests were the 68-year-old bridegroom's two sons.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

1. While vacationing at a resort hotel, should you speak to the persons who regularly eat at your table?
2. Is being good-natured basic in having good manners while traveling?
3. Is it within the proprieties to entertain a visitor of the opposite sex in a hotel room?
4. Does a married woman sign the hotel register as "Mrs. John Hartford" or "Harriet Lane Hartford"?
5. Is it wise to write or wire ahead of time for hotel reservations?

What would you do if—

You are a man registering at a hotel for your wife and 12-year-old daughter. Would you write—

(a) Frank Black and Family?
(b) Frank Black, Wife and Child?
(c) Mr. and Mrs. Frank Black, Miss Mary Black?

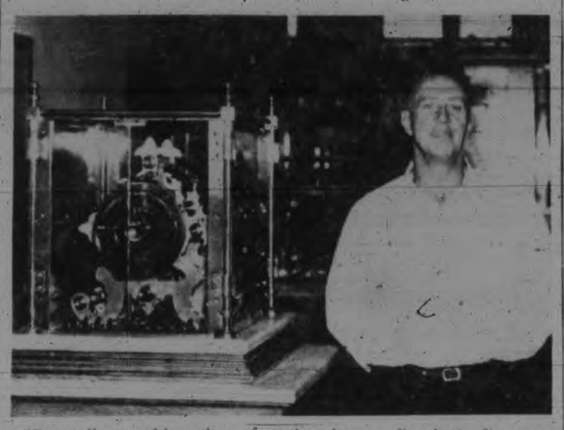
ANSWERS

1. Of course.
2. Yes.
3. No.
4. The former.
5. Yes, and ask for a reply.

Best "What Would You Do" solution—(c).

Scientists have found 148 teeth of Peking men, the race that lived in China over 500,000 years ago, and not one of these teeth is defective.

UNUSUAL JOBS— Fire Alarm Operator



"Generally speaking the overnight shift around here is a pretty monotonous business, but there are times when it becomes interesting," says Edward Taylor, who keeps an all night vigil over the city's fire alarm system and answers all alarms to headquarters.

"One of our greatest troubles when answering to an alarm call is trying to keep the people on the other end of the line calm and cool," he said. "Plenty of them just pick up the receiver when they've got their number and shout 'fire,' without giving further information. And the men are worse than women when it comes to getting too excited.

"Another trouble with people turning in alarms is that they will often give you the wrong house—probably a former address of theirs or something like that. This usually happens if they have a fire just after moving. Foreigners though are our big difficulty. Sometimes a Chinese will call and shout 'fire, fi', fi', fi', Flisgard Street,' and you more or less just have to take a chance on where it is."

A big fire in the middle of the night keeps the men in the alarm office really busy and often they welcome one when things have been dull for a long while. In cases of this kind they have to call out all men off shift in addition to tending to other alarms.

"One thing about this job is that you can easily find out the number of people in Victoria who are up around 3—and 4 in the morning," Mr. Taylor said. "Any night there happens to be a bright glow in the sky we are besieged with calls from everywhere. We had a lot of trouble with this type of call when red neon signs were first used, but it's not nearly as bad now."

WILL BROADCAST CHURCH SERVICES

TORONTO (CP) — Rev. J. E. Ward, chairman of the new National Advisory Council on Religious Service Broadcasting, announced yesterday plans for broadcasting church services this winter over a national hook-up of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Mr. Ward said Roman Catholic Church authorities would arrange a half-hour program early Sunday afternoon and the Protestant churches, in succession, would arrange a program later each Sunday afternoon.

The programs would be given from Toronto during the first few weeks, and then shift to other cities, Vancouver, Halifax and Montreal among others.

SAYS WOMEN APATHETIC

VANCOUVER (CP) — Women hold out for equal status with men and yet many refuse to accept the responsibility of citizenship, Mrs. Herbert McGregor, Penticton, B.C., president of British Columbia Women's Institutes, told delegates attending the eighth biennial convention, which opened here yesterday at the provincial normal school.

"Three years ago our federal convener of legislation suggested as topics of study, 'Juvenile Delinquency,' and the 'Borstal System.' Only four of the nine provinces reported co-operation," she said. "This general apathy or stoic indifference on the part of women is to be regretted. We may awaken too late to find our security undermined by elements we might have guided."

She pleaded for more united effort on the part of Women's Institutes—provincially and nationally. "We should be training schools in citizenship. We are nonpolitical and nonsectarian. We do not emphasize our differences, but meet on common ground of human interests.

"Women's Institutes give away to other organizations too much of the money they raise. They do not always get credit and their own work suffers. We would have attained our objective for the $10,000 Othoa Scott fund for crippled children in this province instead of raising half this amount," she said.

Finds Atmosphere Different Here

Leander Manley, manager of the B.C. division of J. J. Gibbons Advertising Agency, Vancouver, was in the city today on one of his periodical trips.

"I have been coming here for 27 years and Victoria still holds a peculiar fascination for me," he said. "It must be the different atmosphere. I never get tired of coming here."

"Business in Vancouver is stepping up in great style and outlook in Victoria appears to be excellent," Mr. Manley observed.

Much Interest In Baby Show

Rural Mothers Prepare Their Fondest For Big Sooke Day Event

Proud mothers of rural districts of Vancouver Island are preparing their babies with the best of vitamin foods and everything else that will help them catch the judges' eyes in the Victoria Times baby show to be staged in conjunction with the annual All-Sooke Day, next Wednesday afternoon.

The baby show always attracts many entries from families of the rural areas and is regarded as one of the feature events of the day. In addition to the Times prizes awarded to the winner, the Vancouver Drug Company contributes a present to each competing baby. Mrs. Robertson and Mrs. Schrieber will be in charge of the event.

The day's program indicates the energetic committee in charge of Sooke Day has again spared no effort in making this community undertaking one of Vancouver Island's major summer attractions.

From the time of the opening at 12.30 in the afternoon until the last strains of Bunk McEwen's orchestra die away in the small hours of the morning there will be activity to interest everyone.

There will be flat racing and novelty events of the widest variety, with a splendid array of prizes for each. Among the novelties being added this year will be a canoe obstacle race and a horseback swimming race.

The former will see canoeists paddle down Sooke River and haul their craft over logs placed in the river as obstacles, while in the riding event the riders will be required to race down one side of the river, swim with their mounts to the other side, then complete the running.

The dances will be held in the new Sooke Community Hall and the old Sooke Hall. At the former there will be modern dancing and old-time reels at the latter.

Bit and Was Fined

BOSTON—The truck driver just grinned when a nurse climbed out of her car and asked him to make way—she was on her way to an important case. Angry, she bit him in the leg and drove the truck out of the way herself. It cost her $25 fine.

BAYS IN EASY CRICKET WIN

Defeat Victoria By 132 Runs and Four Wickets in Midweek Fixture

Led by Jimmy Oakman, who put on 77 runs before he retired, Hudson's Bays defeated the Victoria Club by 132 runs and four wickets in a mid-week cricket fixture played at Beacon Hill yesterday.

The departmehtals scored 194 for six in two and a half hours at bat. Victoria replied with 62.

Sam Mills, Hollywood, playing for the losers, led that side with 27.

Hesketh and Baker led the Hudson's Bay's bowling, each taking four wickets in eight overs for 32 and 25 runs respectively.

LICENSE ONUS IS ON DEALERS

Registration and licensing of some 3,000 coal and petroleum dealers, wholesalers, and producers in British Columbia is going ahead, Dr. W. A. Carrothers, the one man Coal and Petroleum Products Control Board, said yesterday.

Following the approval by the government of regulations for licensing, first step in the new control measure, Dr. Carrothers said applications have been coming in to the board's offices here. To assist dealers the board will circularize those of whom it has addresses, Dr. Carrothers said, but the onus of registration is upon the dealers.

Bright Ideas FOR YOUR VACATION

Landlocked Maple Bay Is Tourist Magnet

Lovely Scenery; Fine Sandy Beach; Warm Bathing; Excellent Fishing

Few spots along the coast of Vancouver Island are more attractive than the sheltered waters of Maple Bay. It is surprising that this beautiful spot, one of Nature's masterpieces, is so little known to touring motorists, for it is only one hour and a half's drive over the scenic Malahat, a mere 45 miles from Victoria, and only six miles east of Duncan. There is a choice of roads to follow, too, that will offer a widely diversified interest . . . one leaving the Island Highway to wind its way across the Cowichan flats through the Indian Reserve and under the shadow of Mount Tzouhalem; the other taking the Island Highway to Duncan, turning off through the town across the railway tracks and down the trunk road. This is a perfectly kept highway, shaded by mighty maples and giant firs. It passes by splendid farms and winds close to Somenos and Quamichan Lakes, on the shores of which many beautiful private homes have been built.

When the winding road has been followed to its very end; when the last long descent to the shore has been successfully accomplished and the visitor catches his first glimpse of the blue waters of an all but land-locked bay sparkling in the sunshine, and the majestic outline of Maxwell's Mountain serenely dominating the picture, he is indeed well rewarded for his interests in the beauties that lie just beyond the beaten path.

Standing on the beach, looking out over the two long peninsulas which run toward Salt Spring Island to form the Sansum Narrows, drinking in the tonic of warm sunshine and crisp sea air, one could wish for no finer holiday than a day, a week, or even a month at Maple Bay.

INDIAN LORE

Maple Bay district abounds in Indian lore. It is hard to realize in the peaceful setting of today, that scarcely 100 years ago it was the scene of one of the last great Indian battles on Vancouver Island. Even now, searchers on the beach are frequently rewarded by the discovery of flint arrow and spear heads, besides other articles of domestic use and Indian personal adornment. At the entrance to Sansum Narrows, and rising sheer out of the water for perhaps 60 feet, there stands a glassy-surfaced rock up which, it is said, the young Indian brave had to climb and plant his spear on top in order to prove his manhood and his worthiness to be accepted by the maiden of his choice. This is but one of the many tales surrounding landmarks in the district.

THE INN

In trim gardens that run right down to the beach and looking out over this beauty of sea and rugged hills, stands the Maple Inn, an up-to-date resort and an ideal place to spend a week-end or longer holiday. This comfortable hotel caters to the summer visitor and week-end motorist. This season many improvements have been made to the original inn. The living-room has been enlarged, part of the long veranda enclosed, and many of the rooms redecorated. The bedrooms are large and airy, with electric light and hot and cold running water. Many of them have private verandas and every room has a beautiful view of the bay and surrounding hills. There is a well-appointed dining-room where splendid food is served. Boats are available at the Inn . . . there are splendid tennis courts adjoining the grounds and a perfect dance floor gives added fun to the summer pleasure seeker. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Jackson, the new proprietors, have just recently come to Vancouver Island from the interior of British Columbia.

Another Attractive Spot on Vancouver Island

Mr. Jackson is an ardent fisherman and hunter and hopes to interest sportsmen in Maple Bay as a headquarters for shooting and hunting in the fall.

Fishing is excellent all year round in the waters of Maple Bay, and boats may be seen evening or early morning, trolling for grilse, sea trout or salmon. The beaches are sandy and slope gently down to the water, making the warm bathing ideal for children. Saddle horses are kept in the vicinity, and a nine-hole golf course is close at hand. Maple Bay is the answer to the weary vacationist's plea that he may find a place that is different, where peace and quiet and rest may be intermingled with the clean tang of salt air and the healthy lure of the great outdoors.

Mission Hill Camp In Comox Valley

Just beyond the city of Courtenay in the district of Sandwick, a part of the lovely Comox Valley, there is an auto camp that is built high on a hillside. It is called Mission Hill Camp, and for sheer beauty of location, this pleasant little camp holds one of the first places on Vancouver Island. Situated as it is, on a hillside, it looks down over the smiling valley of the Comox and the placid waters of Comox Bay . . . down to the city of Courtenay . . . then far and beyond to snowcapped mountains, to the famous Glacier and the peaks of the Forbidden Plateau. On clear days it is even possible to see Mount Arrowsmith.

The Mission Hill Camp is a place of neat little cottages and cabins of two and three rooms each. They are all spotlessly clean and all neatly furnished. There is a splendid water system, and all the cottages and cabins have running water. Sunnydale and Comox golf courses are both within a few minutes of the camp.

This season, Mission Hill Camp is under new ownership. Mr. and Mrs. Tonkins have just recently come to Sandwick from the prairies. They both have worked very hard to make Mission Hill Camp a popular stopping place for the vacationist and touring motorist.

MAYOR OPENS SOOKE CAMP

Official Opening of Sunshine Camp Witnessed By Numerous Visitors

Several carloads of interested persons drove out to the Sunshine Camp at Sooke yesterday afternoon to witness the official opening of the camp by Mayor Andrew McGavin and to see for themselves how things are run.

Mayor McGavin spoke briefly to an audience made up of those supervisors not busy caring for the children, the mothers at the camp and to the visiting guests. He said that he felt that the Lord would bless each and everyone who is assisting in the fine work of providing a restful holiday for the under-privileged mother and her children.

CAMP HISTORY

In introducing the Mayor, Magistrate Henry Hall gave a short account of the history of the Sunshine Camp. The first camp was established in 1925 at Cordova Bay under the initiative and guidance of the late Fred Lansberg and a number of assisting citizens. In 1927, the site now used for the camp was bought and cottages were constructed. Since that time the camp had been held each year. He said that in 1933 the camp was taken over for direct organization by the Friendly Help Welfare Association.

In 1937, Magistrate Hall said, 50 families had attended the camp. From these 50 families there were 48 teen-age girls, 44 teen-age boys and 112 young children including several babies, who benefited through the wholesome foods and the fresh and healthy atmosphere found at the camp. The total cost for each person amounted to approximately 80 cents a day. This year the older boys will be excluded from the privilege of attending the camp.

OFFICIALS INTRODUCED

During the course of the ceremony, Mayor McGavin introduced the different officials who were in charge. They were: Miss M. Foxall, camp mother; Miss Anna Goshko, public health nurse who is always in attendance; Miss E. Edgar, camp cook; Miss K. Beyer, recreation leader, and assistant leaders, Miss J. Havard and Miss Sheila Swift. Miss C. Brown of the staff of the Family Welfare Association stationed in town, is in charge of the camp.

Miss L. McLaughlin, general secretary of the Friendly Welfare Association, was on hand to welcome the visitors.

Mayor McGavin paid tribute to Alderman W. H. Davies as chairman of the camp committee.

"Alderman Davies," he said, "has taken the place of our beloved citizen, the late Fred Lansburg, in the work he is doing for the Sunshine Camp."

Following the opening, tea was served to the visitors and the mothers. Miss Sara Spencer provided the refreshments. Percy Fitzsimmons was very popular among the children as he distributed candy to each.

CAMP LAYOUT

The main building of the camp heads a large grassy playground which is surrounded by 12 smaller cottages comfortably fitted out for the families. Another building close to the main structure is used as a nursery. Several tents have also been set up.

The campers eat together in a large dining-room in the main building. A radio has been installed and in evenings the mothers gather here before a large brick fireplace for quiet entertainment. The camp is also fitted out with a telephone, a gramaphone, a refrigerator, electric lighting in the main building, running water with hot and cold showers, and a library.

REMAIN TWO WEEKS

The first group now at the camp is composed of 18 mothers, 23 children over a year old, and six babies under a year. They will remain for two weeks to be replaced by a second group of mothers with older children and the final sessions of the camp will be for teen-age girls.

A fairly strict routine is practiced. Breakfast is served at 8, and from 8.30 to 11.30 the children play under supervision while the mothers attend to different work which is assigned to them daily. Dinner is served at 12 and a rest period is called from 1 to 3. At 4 in the afternoon the mothers and children are supervised in separate groups in swimming. After returning from their swim, light refreshments are served and supervised play for the children is carried out until supper-time at 5.30. After supper the children once more play under supervision, and then they are sent to bed with a cookie or candy around 8.

Different ministers from Victoria go out on Sundays and hold a service at which everyone attends. Different organizations provide entertainment in the evenings at various times.

Hikes and picnics are held for both the children and mothers. Camp is usually closed with a concert made up of talent found in the camp.

Less Canadian Wheat Is in Store

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian wheat in store for the week ended July 1 decreased 659,922 bushels from the previous week and 17,125,851 from the corresponding week a year ago, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The amount in store was reported at 25,884,383 bushels against 26,544,305 the previous week and 43,010,234 the week ended July 2, 1937. Canadian wheat in the United States amounted to 841,000 bushels against 840,000 and 5,314,614.

New Estimate On Schools' Values

As a preliminary to distributing $73,200 worth of insurance on buildings and contents, the Saanich School Board last night ordered a revaluation of all buildings under its control.

The revaluation will serve to lower the amount for coverage, with the resultant drop in premium.

The board carries a total of $220,500 on its buildings, $73,200 of which expires on July 16 this year. The present premium is $1.37 per $100, making a total of $1,002.84 a year on the amount to be renewed. The aggregate premium of all insurance carried is $3,023.

After the revaluation the trustees will hear bids from board and nonboard companies.

Trustees Stanley F. Miles and Martin W. Dawson said they would favor awarding the premiums to board companies, while Trustees E. C. Warren and L. H. Passmore said they could not see why it should not go to nonboard firms if it was to mean a saving in the premiums which were paid from taxpayers' money.

U.S. Admiral On Holiday Visit

Rear-Admiral W. Anderson, U.S.N., of U.S.S. Northampton, arrived in Victoria yesterday with Mrs. Anderson on a holiday visit to Vancouver Island.

While his ship is at Bremerton, Admiral Anderson took the opportunity to cross to Victoria for a few days' rest. He and his wife are registered at the Empress Hotel.

Mrs. E. Brown and her daughter, Miss Jane Brown, of Buckinghamshire, England, left the Empress yesterday after a few days in the city. They are on a lengthy tour of Canada and the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolphe Schmidt of Olympia, who come to Victoria several times a year, arrived yesterday, as did Mr. and Mrs. M. Leo Sweenex of Vancouver. C. V. LaFarge of the Puget Sound Navigation Company, and his wife, registered from Seattle. Two couples from Castle Rock, Wash., Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Dean and Mr. and Mrs. James Welch, are at the hotel on vacation.

Others registered include: Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Dickson, Beverly Hills; Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Brown Jr., Memphis, Tenn.; Mrs. E. J. Meyer and Mrs. Mary E. White, San Mateo; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. McCreary and Mrs. J. G. McCreary, Berkeley; Thomas Wolfe, New York; Dr. and Mrs. George H. Grover, San Francisco; Capt. and Mrs. F. C. Kinsaid, Seattle; Miss Jean and Miss Martha Hewitt, Seattle, and A. S. Gentles, Vancouver.

Reich To Export More To Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Germany appeared to be in a strong position today to get a good share of Mexican industrial orders through the sale of $10,000,000 worth of oil to a New York firm.

Official and unofficial sources said payments would be 40 per cent cash and the rest in credits for machinery and industrial products, most of which would go to Germany since she is understood to be getting more than half the oil.

The United States heretofore has received most of the Mexican import trade, although Germany, especially eager for better foreign markets, has pushed sales of technical equipment, hardware and machinery to Mexico.

Mexico's position also has improved through the large oil transacton between the Mexican Government and W. R. Davis, head of the New York company of that name announced yesterday. Mexico has had trouble disposing of export oil since March 18 when the government took over wells of 17 British and United States concerns.

It was reliably said the contract was dated June 20 to run for the rest of 1938, with an extension clause. The contract price a barrel was not disclosed.

President Lazaro Cardenas, on his return from a 51-day visit to oil properties, said the government was workin on plans to ndemnify oil companies for the expropriated properties.

Over Half Budget Gone By June 30

With six months of the school year completed, the Saanich School Board has spent $70,416.81 of its total expenditure of $136,155.07, with several major expenditures to be met.

A report prepared by Miss Gladys J. Morgan, secretary, and presented to the board last night, showed a balance of $65,738.26 for expenditure.

From the total of $95,386 to be received from the municipal levy, the board has already received and spent $49,826.62, leaving a balance of $45,187.76. The major part of appropriations for supplies, fuel and repairs is still to be met.

MACCHIONE APPEAL SET FOR VICTORIA

The third appeal of Vincent Macchione, three times convicted of the murder of Michael Huddock near Fernie, B.C., and three times sentenced to be hanged, is listed for hearing by the Court of Appeal at the Victoria sittings scheduled to start September 13.

Macchione was last convicted at the Vernon Assizes and sentenced by Mr. Justice Murphy to be hanged on October 26.

The papers setting forth the grounds for the appeal were received today at the Court House.

The appeal is being sought on the grounds of law and fact or mixed law and fact.

Youth Drowned In Arrow Lake

NELSON, B.C. (C.P.)—Ronald Harrison, 17, drowned in Lower Arrow Lake, near Robson, 20 miles west of here, last night, despite the efforts of a young companion to save him.

Harrison was swimming to a raft when he got into difficulties. His companion, Thomas McColm, though a poor swimmer, attempted to save him but was forced to call for help himself.

McColm was rescued by Joy Fuller in a canoe.

Trial Delays Wedding Plans

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP)—Leslie West surrendered as the second suspect in the $41,000 gold concentrate theft case last night at the cost of postponing his wedding scheduled for next week, it was disclosed today.

The 22-year-old Timmins youth, sought by police after the Tuesday night arrest of Otto Fabro and recovery of the gold stolen from the Dome Mine, gave himself up at the home of Magistrate Willard Cooper here.

Fabro was arrested yesterday in a tourist cabin at Lowell Lake and gold was found in an automobile which he and another man allegedly had driven to a camp there.

Subway Series Is Ball Forecast

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

NATIONAL LEAGUE baseball leaders have finally watched their boasted superior pitching and defensive tactics subdue the power of the American League in an all-star classic. Yesterday on the home diamond of the Cincinnati Reds, three of the elder circuit's ace flingers, Johnny Vander Meer, Bill Lee and Mace Brown, handcuffed the sluggers of the American loop in no small manner, while their teammates played errorless ball back of them, especially in the pinches.

In recent years the Nationals have always claimed superior pitching and fielding ability, but it was not until yesterday that the boys from Ford Frick's league have been able to smother the dynamite that lay in the bats of the Americans. And the National pitchers really put on a show. Imagine Vander Meer, a rookie, holding a team to one hit for three innings that boasted such sluggers as Jimmy Foxx, Joe Cronin, Joe DiMaggio, Charley Gehringer and Bill Dickey. Lee followed the Cincinnati youngster's example and also gave up one lone bingle. Brown was not so fortunate, being touched for five safeties, but he certainly was there in the clutch. In the seventh the Pittsburgh mound star fanned the heavy-hitting Rudy York with the bases choked and in the ninth struck out Bob Johnson to write finis to a game packed with drama.

National League selectors knew what they were about when they named five Cincinnati players to the roster. It was the first time the Reds had ever landed more than one member on the all-star outfit. Vander Meer's performance has been mentioned. His battery mate, Ernie Lombardi, playing in his first all-star game, turned in a sterling exhibition for nine innings behind the plate to justify his selection. He also contributed two hits, driving in one run. Ival Goodman in the outfield pulled off two sparkling catches while Frank McCormick handled everything that came his way at first. Paul Derringer, the fifth Red, did not see action.

The National Leaguers were wise in naming Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers for the shortstop position. Although not a dangerous man at the plate, Durocher is recognized as one of the finest infielders in the majors from a fielding standpoint. His ability was proven yesterday in that dramatic seventh inning. Both Foxx and Gehrig smashed hard drives between second and third, but "Lippy Leo" knocked them down. Although both went for infield hits, many shortstops would not have even touched the balls. On Gehrig's smash Durocher cut off a certain score from second base when he handled the hard-hit ball.

It looked like Manager Joe McCarthy of the Americans used poor judgment when he moved Jimmy Foxx to third base after Gehrig had got into the game as a pinch-hitter. Foxx, up until yesterday, had done no third-basing this season with his home club, Boston Red Sox, and it was Jimmy who started the trouble in the seventh with a wild throw to first on Durocher's bunt. McCarthy's idea, no doubt, was to keep as much power in his lineup as possible, but he sacrificed fielding ability by yanking Buddy Lewis, starting third sacker.

It was something of a novelty to see a National League team go through nine innings without the name of Carl Hubbell entering the lineup. The old master of the New York Giants got as far as the bull pen on a couple of occasions, but that was all. In the fourth Hubbell was sent out to warm up when Bill Lee walked the first batter to face him and again in the seventh the veteran left-hander started to get the kinks out of his arm, only to return to the bench when Brown pitched himself out of a nasty hole. It was the first time in six years that Hubbell had not seen duty.

The National League has proven it is not just another "minor league" and can talk about its second victory until the representative teams battle again in 1939, the scene to be the Yankee Stadium, New York.

Experts Are Predicting Another All-New York World Series

The possibility of a third straight subway world series for little old New York is becoming less far-fetched than a trip to the moon in a rocket ship.

A month ago, such a suggestion would have resulted in hilarity from all sides, but on the basis of performances of the last couple of weeks, it is different now.

Neither the New York Yankees nor the Giants are a shoo-in for the current pennant chases, but, with the National Leaguers sporting a 3½ game bulge in their race and the Yanks finally clicking offensively and defensively, Bill Terry's troupe and Murderers' Row are once again definitely the teams to beat.

Until they were tied in the late innings of the second game of the July 4 doubleheader in Washington, the Yanks had an undefeated run of nine straight. During that time, they clubbed 106 hits for 88 runs and allowed the enemy just 18 tallies. That string skyrocketed them from a spot dangerously near fourth place to a tie for the top with Oscar Vitt's Indians from Cleveland.

YANKS HAVE EDGE

From here on in, the advantages are mostly with the Yanks. They have a long home stand coming up, while the Tribe heads eastward. And anyone who knows a ball from a strike realizes that, despite Mr. Vitt's regular injections of vim, vigor and vitality, the Indians still are just as apt as not to fall asleep once they leave the Cleveland city limits behind. Witness, for instance, that double-header defeat in Detroit Monday, just after the Tribe had a fine home stand record.

On the National League side, meantime, the team that beats the Giants must be one that doesn't beat itself. For all the takeoffs on terrible Terry in the last year or so, the guy still is as smart as they come in baseball. He may not have the man-for-man class boasted by the other clubs in the league, notably the "brainy" Chicago Cubs and the somnambulist Pirates of Pittsburgh, but he has his lads in there punching day after day, paced by pitching power and, as was the case aaginst Brooklyn Monday, ready to break out in a rash of base hits.

Their closest rivals at the moment are the Pirates. If the Bucs can get over their lack of familiarity with the high altitude for this late in the season they may make things pop before it's over.

If Cleveland starts to nosedive in the American League from here out, Joe Cronin may shove his Boston Red Sox into the breach, but the gold-plated hose are a little backward in the pitching department, once you pass Lefty Grove and Bagby. That leaves it, as usual, squarely up to Mr. Mickey Cochrane and his Detroit Tigers. Mickey has the power to make a fight of it, once his pitching finds itself—if it can.

Bert Sutton To Race in Seattle

After a complete overhaul job on their Silver Streak, Bert Sutton and Jack Smith are all set to give the American boys some stiff competition in an auto race meet scheduled for Sunday afternoon at the five-eighths of a mile Aurora Speedway at Seattle.

Sutton will pilot the powerful car and after the fine performance of driving skill he turned in against top notch American drivers at the last Langford Speedway meet, it is expected that he will provide plenty of trouble for the home drivers.

There will be several drivers and fans from Victoria going along with Sutton and Smith even though the Silver Streak will be the only local car entered. They will leave on the Saturday afternoon boat.

Times and Northwestern Play to 7 to 7 Tie in C Section Clash

Third-place Times softballers met Northwestern A.C., for the second time this season, at Victoria West Park last evening and again ended their meeting in a draw. The score stood 7 to 7 after these two evenly-matched C section teams had battled for 10 innings.

The newsies were two runs behind their opponents going into the last of the ninth, but before they were retired two runners had been sent the distance to give the game its photo finish.

At Hollywood Park, Hollywood Club C leaders, registered a 16 to 3 triumph over Camerons and Odd Fellows turned back Victoria Meat Market, 17 to 15, at Savory Park. A free-scoring game at Admirals Road saw Spencers squeeze through with a 20 to 19 decision over the Navy in the fourth C match of the evening.

TONIGHT'S GAMES

The softball spotlight will be focused on the Athletic Park this evening, where Camerons and Burns' Shamrocks meet in an important A section match. A win for the millhands will cinch them the top berth in the pennant chase, but Burns will be out at their best strength to try and turn back Camerons, as they need all the victories they can get to hold their playoff position.

Other A games tonight will see Longshoremen and Saanich meet at Hampton Road and Hollywood Club and MacDonald Electric clash at Hollywood Park.

Heavy Advance Sale For Fight

SEATTLE (AP) — With the match still three weeks away, promoter Nate Druxman revealed today the actual advance cash sale of tickets to the Freddie Steele-Al Hostak middleweight title fight, July 26, had reached $30,000.

These figures did not include thousands of dollars worth of tickets reserved but which have not been picked up.

All of which indicates champion Steele may draw down a record sum for a middleweight championship match. He is being guaranteed $30,000, with a hefty percentage privilege.

MIXED FOURSOMES

On July 12 a twilight mixed foursomes will be played at Uplands, over the first nine holes. Competitors will arrange for their own partners and starting times. Play will commence at 5.

Light refreshments will be served after play and will be followed by a dance from 9.

Members may invite a partner from another club.

Navy vs. North Shore

Next Wednesday evening at the Athletic Park at 6 the Navy eleven will oppose North Shore in a semi-final of the Province Cup football competition.

North Shore, one of the leading clubs on the mainland, and already in the Dominion Cup final against St. Andrews, will trot out one of the smartest elevens to play here in recent months.

The Navy band will be in attendance.

Crack Bowlers to Seek Island Title

Draw Announced For Peace Cup Competition on Local Greens Saturday

Leading lawn bowlers of Vancouver Island will gather in Victoria on Saturday for the annual Peace Cup competition to decide the island singles championship. Play will get under way at 9 in the morning on the Beacon Hill and Canadian Pacific greens.

A new champion will be crowned as the title was captured last season by the late Fred Harmon of Burnside.

Those defeated in the preliminary, first and second rounds, will be eligible for the consolation triples' play in which will start at 2.30.

The draw for the championship play follows:

Bluebirds Win Bruising Tilt

Defeat James Bay, 15 to 14, After Hard Boxla Scrap, to Take Lead

Harry "Toots" Sargison's Bluebird stickhandlers came from behind with a brilliant last-quarter drive last evening to nose out the imposing James Bay crew, 15 to 14, at the Athletic Park to take over sole occupation of the leadership berth in the intermediate box-lacrosse race.

Boxla followers have witnessed a number of keen duels between these two squads during the season, but none so hotly contested at last night's skirmish which was fast and bruising and packed with excitement from the opening whistle to close of play.

Sargison's gang took command in the first quarter when they notched the odd goal in seven and had boosted their margin to two goals when the breather arrived. At this point the score stood 10 to 8. In the next session the Bays came back with a renewed burst of energy and ripped into the opposing defence with gusto. In this quarter hour of play James Bay speared six markers to their opponents' one and rocketed into a 14 to 11 lead.

With excitement at a high pitch both teams put everything they had into the scrap in the final quarter. Gradually the Bluebirds whittled down the margin on the scoreboard despite desperate defensive measures on the part of the Bays and with the period advanced into its dying minutes they jumped into a deadlock with their opponents and minutes later rang up the odd goals in 29 to bag an important victory.

Wally Williams and Jim Pickford notched four markers apiece to share scoring honors on the Bluebird line-up, while Austin Cullen led the James Bay pack with seven goals to his credit.

Ross and Ditchburn refereed.

Teams and individual scorers follow:

Bluebirds—Monk, Bousfield 1, W. Williams 4, N. Coates 1, D. Coates 1, O'Connell 1, Akins, Gillis, Jim Pickford 4, John Pickford, Carter 1, and Holyoak 2. Total 15.

James Bay—A. McKim, Allen, Winterburn, Clark 2, Cullin 7, Pridham, Mason 3, McKim, F. Sargent, Thomas, Clark, J. Sargent 1, Williams 1, and McDonald. Total 14.

VICTORIA IS NOW ON TOP

Local Cricketers Score Second Straight Win in Vancouver Tournament

VANCOUVER—Led by A. J. Darcus, who compiled 104 runs in a stay of 2 hours 15 minutes at the wickets, Victoria yesterday defeated Burrards by 96 runs in the third day's play of the Vancouver Golden Jubilee Cricket Festival at Brockton Point, and took over leadership of the tournament with two straight victories for 100 per cent wins.

Calgary lost their record when they put up a feeble display of batting after an equally poor showing with the willow by the Vancouver eleven batsmen, losing by 21 runs.

Okanagan overcame the Vancouver Wednesday League team by 8 runs in the third game, and are now tied with Calgary and the Vancouver eleven with two victories and one defeat each for a percentage of 66.67.

DARCUS STRUCK

Victoria lost Reg Wenman and Dave Carey with only 21 runs on the board, then A. J. Darcus and C. W. Twite engaged in a firm stand until Darcus was hit by a ball on the leg and had a retire for treatment, and did not bat again until after luncheon. Meanwhile, Twite and A. B. Fleck took the score to 80 for three wickets before the adjournment.

Darcus went in again on resuming, and treated the bowling with scant respect. He was missed two or three times, but with aid from the Rev. Comley and F. Skillings, he stayed in until he had reached the coveted century. In all, he hit 19 boundaries.

Burrards failed to fathom the deliveries of Wenman, Darcus and Thorne, apart from Tommy Reed, Pete Jones, Gerry O'Hara and Joe Killick, and were all out just after 5.30 p.m.

BALL GAMES ON SATURDAY

Victoria All-stars in Two Engagements With Bellingham Outfit

Roy Barnes, former receiving ace and manager of the Pitzer and Nex ball club, has been named manager of the Victoria all-stars for the twin bill international baseball series with the Bellingham nine, Saturday at the Athletic Park. The games will be played at 2.30 and 6.

Headed by Joe Martinolich, veteran hurler and outfielder, the Bellingham baseballers will be making their first Victoria appearance. They are leading their league with 12 wins and three defeats, and are reputed to be a real slugging outfit. Their club batting average is .340.

Barnes is well known here as a baseballer and manager and will have a strong nine out to meet the invading squad.

EAGLES WIN CUP FIXTURE

Defeat Navy 9 to 0 in Rithet Cup Baseball; Game Tomorrow

Manager Bill Bridgewood's Eagles opened their bid in the Rithet Cup series in the Victoria Baseball Association last evening with a 9 to 0 victory over the Navy at the Athletic Park. The birdmen poled nine base hits and made each good for a run.

The Eagles paved their way to victory by pushing across three runs in the first frame, and added two more in each of the two succeeding innings, another in the fourth and single in the sixth.

Eagles sent Ken Torroville, a newcomer to the city, to the mound to shoot over the slants and he made a good job of it allowing only four scattered hits.

Victoria Ball Club, holders of the Humphries Cup, will battle Pitzer and Nex in a Rithet Cup match tomorrow evening at the Athletic Park at 6.15.

Score by innings:

Brilliant Fielding Won For Nationals

Inside, Scientific Baseball Triumphed Over Power in Yesterday's Classic

CINCINNATI (AP)—The several million National League addicts, who have taken an awful lot of lip from the opposition in recent years, were bouncing around on their toes today and telling anybody they could back into a corner about the merits of inside, scientific baseball.

They were pointing out, with gestures, how their all-stars whipped the pants off the best the American League could produce 4 to 1, in the big charity bout here yesterday, and were predicting confidently that a few more such demonstrations would have the slow, sluggish American League crying uncle.

Having lost four of the first five, the Nationals were about ready to toss in the towel. There was a last-ditch air about them as they went into yesterday's game.

They came out of it looking like men who had received a reprieve from the death sentence.

TERRY BASEBALL

At that, there is nothing much more impressive in sports than a demonstration of the National League's type of tight, play-for-run baseball—when it works. And it worked yesterday. It was Bill Terry baseball, the kind that has been winning National League pennants, and for an afternoon, at least, it was better than all the sluggers the American League could muster.

Terry sacrificed potential batting strength to put an air-tight defence behind his pitchers. The Nationals made eight hits, only one more than their adversaries. But they fielded perfectly, even brilliantly, while their opponents of the fat batting averages made four glaring errors and literally threw the game away.

If the Americans had fielded like the winners, they would have finished the regulation nine innings in a 1 to 1 deadlock and might have been playing yet. It was spectacular National League fielding, then, that won.

Cox, Busson And Burton Pacesetters

Have 36-Hole Scores of 140; Tolley Equals Course Record With 68

SANDWICH, Eng. (CP) — A pair of Ryder Cup men, Burly Bill Cox and J. J. Busson, took over leadership of the British open golf championship field today with 36-hole totals of 140 as defending titleholder Henry Cotton flirted with elimination with 147.

At the end of today's play, the pack will be reduced to the low 40 and ties. Despite a tricky wind that swept the Royal St. George's links, there was plenty of low scoring and Cotton's future was uncertain.

While the champion was struggling with wayward irons and turning a three-overpar 73 to put alongside yesterday's 74, Busson carded 69 and Cox 70.

In turning in the first subpar round for the 72-hole championship proper, Busson shot nothing but fours and threes for an outgoing 32. The consistent Cox fired 35 on both sides of the course.

BRUEN SHOOTS 80

A gallery following 18-year-old Jim Bruen, watched him slice and hook his way to an 80 that gave him a perilous total of 150.

The amateur course record of 68 was equalled by the veteran Cyril Tolley, former British amateur champion. The prodigious hitting Tolley's two-day card read 145.

General A. C. Critchley, London sports promoter and once of Calgary, soared to 81 for a 159 total.

Other early finishers, with today's scores and 36-hole totals, were:

C. A. Whitcombe, 75-146; Alf. Padgham, 72-146; Dai Rees, 72-145; Hector Thomson, 71-148; R. A. Whitcombe, 71-142; Bobby Lockey, 72-145; Leonard Crawley, 73-151 and A. J. Lacey, 72-146.

Richard Burton, another British Ryder Cupper, fired a subpar 69 to join Cox and Busson in the front rank.

John Fallon, the 25-year-old Scot who led the qualifying field and was one of yesterday's half dozen pacemakers with 70, fell away to 75 for a 145 total. Young Edward Whitcombe, son of Ernest, who was one of yesterday's leaders, and nephew of C. A. and R. A. Whitcombe, shot 74, three under his first round effort.

Sid Brews of South Africa carded even par of 146.

F. H. Norton Is Club Golf Victor

With a gross score of 82, which his handicap reduced to 67, F. H. A. Norton won the golf tournament staged by the Pacific Club at Colwood yesterday afternoon.

B. Hunnings was low gross with an 80 and runner-up for the low net with 68. P. W. Bell nosed out Dr. F. M. Bryant to win the low net on the first nine with a 34 and C. Heisterman took the second nine low net with 32½.

Gross scores follow: B. Hunnings 80, F. H. A. Norton 82, J. R. Morris 83, A. D. Gordon 86, C. E. Brown 87, R. W. MacKenzie, 87, D. C. Gordon 87, K. R. Sangster 88, Dr. F. M. Bryant 89, J. R. Kingham 89, A. V. King 89, C. E. Denham 90, O. G. Leach 90, J. S. Oliphant 90, C. Heisterman 90, A. M. Knox 93, W. Boorman 96 and Ted Simmons 99.

Capture Victoria Centre Junior Tennis Titles; May Go to Seattle

W. E. Knotts and Kay Staples, Duncan, captured the under 18 boys and Girls' Victoria centre tennis championships in keenly-contested finals played yesterday afternoon on the courts of the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club.

Knotts won a stiff three-set match from H. S. Bennett, 5-7, 6-4, 8-6, and Miss Staples defeated Virginia May, Parksville, 6-3, 6-0. In winning from Bennett, Knotts reversed the decision in the recent high school championship final on the same courts.

In the junior men's doubles Knotts and Bennett teamed up to defeat J. McPherson and J. Inglis, Hollywood Club, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4. The girls' doubles went to Kay Staples and Monica Roberts, Duncan, by virtue of their straight set victory over Virginia May and Joyce Carrier, Brentwood, 6-4, 8-6.

Ian Gillespie was the winner of the boys' under 15 singles, defeating Alec. Humphries, 6-1, 6-2.

Winners and runners-up will be presented with medals and it is possible they will also be given a chance to play in the Pacific Northwest Lawn Tennis Association junior finals to be held at Seattle in about 10 days.

VICTORIANS HIGH SHOTS

Pete. E. Nicholson and Sergt. J. Regan Lift Honors in B.C.R.A. Meet

BLAIR RIFLE RANGE, NORTH VANCOUVER—Visiting Vancouver Island marksmen continued to set the pace at the end of the second day's shooting in the British Columbia Rifle Association prize meet being held at Blair Range. The islanders were led by two Victoria sharpshooters, Private Edward Nicholson of the Garrison Rifle Association, who extended his hot shooting streak from Monday, and Sergeant Jack Regan, the famous Canadian Scottish shot.

Private Nicholson clinched his partial hold on the Westminster Corporation match trophy when he added a 34 at 500 yards to his possible of Monday, for a total of 69. Two points behind came Regan, who finished with a perfect 35 at 500 yards, which, combined with his earlier score of 32 at 200 yards, gave him 67.

Bunched with Regan at 67 were George L. Churchard of the Vancouver Rifle Association, who turned in a possible 35 at 500 yards, and the two Vancouver Seaforth Highlander shots, Lieut. A. S. Campbell and Capt. J. M. Macneil.

While mirage and general poor shooting conditions were killing the majority of the scores in the Duff Stuart match, the veteran Regan utilized his vast experience to card a steady 94 out of 100 to take the event by one point from Bandsman Frank Drysdale, also of the Canadian Scottish.

FINE MARKSMANSHIP

Sergeant Regan, twice winner of the Grand Aggregate at Bisley and recognized as one of the finest shots in the British Empire, garnered a 46 out of 50 at 300 yards and then snipped a sensational score of 48 out of 50 at the difficult 600-yard range.

Bracketed behind Regan with 93's were Fusilier Ian Grant of the Vancouver Irish Fusiliers, and Gunner Charles Rasmussen of the Esquimalt Garrison Rifle Association.

Cpl. G. S. Carr of the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps, Victoria (nonpermanent), fired a 49 out of a possible 50 to take possession of the Vancouver Corporation Match Trophy. Carr blazed in seven straight bull's-eyes, faltered for a moment with an inner, and then finished strongly with a pair of bulls.

Right behind Carr, tied at 48, were Sergt.-Major-Instructor W. H. Wood and the sensational-shooting young Nicholson, who both compete under the banner of the Esquimalt Garrison Rifle Association with a total of 181 points.

The Vancouver Rifle Association and the Rocky Mountain Rangers' Rifle Association finished far behind the Garrison tied for second place, each with totals of 174 points.

GOLF WINNERS

Mrs. B. R. Philbrick led the field in A class in the medal competition, held at the Victoria Golf Club, with a card of 87-8-79. In B class, Mrs. H. B. Combe and Miss Marcia Prior tied with scores of 95-19-76 and 102-26-76, respectively.

GASOLINES ARE NOT ALL ALIKE

DISSOLVES GUM, FIGHTS CARBON . . . GIVES EXTRA POWER AND MILEAGE

To receive a patent from the Canadian Government, a gasoline formula must have new, useful and improved characteristics. The improved Esso and 3-Star do offer a decided advance in efficient motor operation. Both now contain a new solvent which promptly dissolves the gum and other similar materials formed when your engine consumes gasoline and oil. The formation of hard, sticky deposits on your valves and piston rings that rob your engine of power is definitely checked.

These two leading brands of gasoline are now more efficient than ever. No one can duplicate the formula of Esso or 3-Star. No other gasoline can duplicate the performance of these improved motor fuels.

You Have Two Choices of Performance . . .

Esso The highest quality gasoline Imperial Oil has ever made, containing a sufficient amount of tetraethyl lead to eliminate "knock" and "ping" and to give smooth power and cool running. Now Esso also contains the new Imperial solvent to keep your engine free of gum and carbon.

3-STAR This famous gasoline has long been recognized by motorists as a regular-priced gasoline of exceptional quality. Now it contains the patented, gum-absorbing solvent. It means more power, a cleaner engine than ever.

150 More Men On Way To City

Leave Nanaimo After Steve Brodie Addresses Them; Others to Follow

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP) — One hundred and fifty single unemployed men from Vancouver today awaited instructions from their leaders to begin an 80-mile trek to Victoria, where they will join more than 700 others in a peaceful demonstration for a relief works program.

Speaking at a mass meeting here last night Steve Brodie, leader of the group, said the unemployed men now on Vancouver Island "would maintain order in their battle for work and wages."

Brodie said the unemployment situation was a federal matter, and it was the intention of the jobless to take up the matter with Ottawa if "nothing" was forthcoming in Victoria.

The contingent which arrived here last night expected to continue on to Victoria some time today.

A delegation representing various Nanaimo organizations was expected to go to the capital to appeal to the British Columbia government for aid for the men.

No Salt Water Fee For Nonresidents

Fisheries Amendment Eliminates Tourist License For Tidal Water Fishing

George I. Warren, Victoria's publicity commissioner, today expressed his appreciation of the action of the Dominion Government in discontinuing the license fee for angling in tidal waters by nonresidents of British Columbia by amending the fisheries regulations.

Word of the Dominion Department of Fisheries' action was received in writing this morning by local sporting goods stores from J. F. Tait, supervisor of fisheries for the federal department. The letter points out that the amendment gives nonresidents of the province the right to fish in tidal waters without permit.

For the last month of so tourists coming into the province have been compelled to take out a license for both salt water and fresh water fishing at a cost of $5 each, owing to a disagreement between the provincial and Dominion departments. As it stands now a license is required for nontidal water fishing only by nonresidents.

Mr. Warren points out that this information is welcomed by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, as the bureau had informed thousands of tourists in writing and folder that a single license was required only for tidal and nontidal fishing. The tourist information was sent out before the license fees were changed.

Everyday names for birds, says the Scientific Monthly, generally come from one of these features: color; voice; form, either as a whole or in detail; or some striking peculiarity in habit.

"TIN-CANNING" TERM 15 DAYS

First of Arrested Men Appears Before Magistrate

Dennis Brinton, first of the 61 "tin-canners" arrested this morning appeared before Magistrate Henry Hall in City Police Court at 2.50 this afternoon. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 15 days in Oakalla. The court proceeded with the other cases.

The rest of the men arrested appeared in quick succession before the magistrate and each pleaded guilty and was given 15 days.

C. H. Harrison, city prosecutor, did not apply for confiscation of the tin caners and their contents.

YOUTH ADMITS ALL CHARGES

Joseph Carlow Pleads Guilty to Thefts of Cars and Breaking and Entering

Joseph Carlow, one of three youths charged with a series of car thefts and breaking and entering which occurred since the end of last month, pleaded guilty to all charges when he appeared on remand in the City Police Court this morning. He was remanded until tomorrow for sentence.

Ronald Reid, formerly implicated in only one of the six charges, this morning was charged in all of them. In each instance he elected for summary trial and was remanded until tomorrow.

Hugh McMillan, charged jointly with Carlow on all counts, elected for preliminary hearing when his plea was asked but his father stood up in the courtroom and asked that the cases be proceeded with and a plea of guilty taken.

The court ordered McMillan remanded until tomorrow pending an interview with his father on which course he should proceed.

The three youths are charged with the theft of cars from Betty W. Symonds, Mrs. Marjorie Drury of California, Deaconess M. E. Robinson and M. Wright. They also face counts of breaking and entering shops of Orville Bond, Yates Street, and Fred Williams, 1501 Shelbourne Street.

Finds Friendly Spirit In City

Newspaper Woman From Winnipeg Imagined People Here Haughty and Cold

"I always imagined the people of Victoria were cold and haughty, but I arrive here to find them the friendliest in the world," said Miss Elizabeth Long of Winnipeg, who is on her first visit to this city.

Women's editor of the Prairie Farmer, a weekly newspaper published in conjunction with the Winnipeg Free Press, she is a guest at the Empress Hotel.

"I find, too, that everyone in this city is very fond of Americans," she said. "In Winnipeg we haven't quite the same kind feelings for them, which I think is too bad. Eastern Canada, also, is not quite as fond of Americans as you in the west are. I think the rest of Canada might well follow your example."

Miss Long thinks Victoria is one of the most beautiful spots she has ever seen.

"Usually in my holidays I dash off to eastern Canada, but I can tell you I'm coming west again when I get a chance," she said.

Mrs. Richard Day of Hollywood, wife of a United Artists' executive, is at the Empress with her children, who have been at school at Shawnigan Lake. She will return south shortly.

Miss Eva Clare, head of the department of music at the University of Manitoba, is registered from Winnipeg.

Robert Creelman, passenger traffic manager for the western lines of the Canadian National Railways, arrived from Winnipeg today on a periodical business trip and was accompanied by G. A. McNichol of Vancouver, district passenger agent in British Columbia.

Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Woodward, prominent residents of Santa Monica, are on a holiday visit to Vancouver Island.

ELIZABETH WALKER

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Walker took place yesterday afternoon in Sands Mortuary Chapel. Rev. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick conducted the services, during which the hymns sung were "Nearer, My God, to Thee" and "Peace, Perfect Peace." A number of beautiful floral offerings covered the casket. The remains were laid at rest in Royal Oak Burial Park. Messrs. C., T., P. H., J. and W. Walker acted as pallbearers.

WALTER ROSS FINLEY

Funeral services were held in McCall Bros. Funeral Home yesterday afternoon for Walter Ross Finley. Many friends attended and the casket was banked with many floral tributes. Rev. James Hood conducted the services, during which the hymn, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," was sung. Interment was in Royal Oak Burial Park, with the following acting as pallbearers: D. R. Hattie, R. E. Spears, O. E. Brown, J. H. Doney, C. H. Wilson and R. Hunter.

ROBERT BRUCE STEWART

Funeral services for Robert Bruce Stewart were held yesterday afternoon at the Thomson Funeral Home, Rev. Daniel Walker officiating. Many friends and relatives were present. The hymn, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," was sung. The service at the graveside was conducted by Worshipful Master Bro. Harold A. Hunt of Premier L.O.L. No. 1610, of which the deceased had been a member for 66 years. The following were pallbearers: Bro. F. Greensides, J. Watson, W. Steenson, A. Dent, A. McCallum and Mr. Boniface. The remains were laid at rest in Ross Bay Cemetery.

H. T. GRAVLIN PASSES AWAY

Well-known Old-time Resident of Oak Bay Dies in Hospital

Herbert Thomas Gravlin of 1937 Oak Bay Avenue, a resident of Victoria for 48 years, passed away yesterday afternoon at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, after a brief illness.

Mr. Gravlin was born 74 years ago at Aylsham, Norfolk, England, and came to this city nearly half centry ago from Ontario. He had for many years carried on a painting and interior decorating business in Oak Bay.

He was a member of the Ancient Order of Foresters for 63 years, having joined when 11 years of age in England, and was a member of the Pride of the Island Lodge, Sons of England, for 40 years, being secretary for 18 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Gravlin celebrated their golden wedding this year. In addition to his widow, at the family residence, he leaves two daughters, Mrs. G. W. Etherington and Mrs. Fred Wright, in this city; three sons, T. W. and Walter, residing in Victoria, and George A. Gravlin of San Francisco; one sister, Mrs. Mead, Victoria; two brothers and one sister in Toronto, also grandchildren, nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 3 from the S. J. Curry and Son Funeral Home. Rev. E. A. Wright of Knox Church, Wallaceburg, Ont., will offilcate, after which cremation will take place at the Royal Oak Crematorium. It is specially requested that no flowers be sent.

Came As Visitor, Will Be Settler

A regular visitor to Victoria during recent years, Dr. V. Latimer, Penticton, formerly of Manitoba, an intimate of the late E. Pauline Johnson, will make his home here in the near future.

An eye and ear specialist, Mr. Latimer, at present a guest at the Dominion Hotel, is looking forward to extensive home gardening activity when he finally locates in Victoria with Mrs. Latimer and a grandson.

Today he talked entertainingly of the well-known Indian poetess, telling anecdotes of her visits to the prairies and her ability in the field of Canadian letters.

Registration Slow But Men Say Why

Say Relief Office Wanted Few Each Day; Object to Some Questions

David Ross, provincial organizer of the Relief Project Workers' Union, issued a statement this morning stating why the unemployed single men in this city had not been registering in larger numbers. His statement follows:

"There is much comment being made as to why the unemployed are not registering faster. We wish to inform the public this is in conformance with the request of Mr. E. W. Griffith, relief administrator, to a delegation which interviewed him last week. Mr. Griffith stated the registration bureau could only handle a few men per day, so in co-operation we are sending but a few every day.

"The questions being put to these men have absolutely no bearing on employment. For instance they are asked: 'Are you a member of the Relief Project Workers' Union?' 'Were you in the art gllery?' 'Were you in the post office?' Judging from this process we can only assume registration is not for the purpose of providing an employment list but for the purpose of compiling a black list.

"The correctness of this analysis is further emphasized by Premier Pattullo's statement to the press 'that men must register before July 12, and that when the government had complete information they would deal with each individual man as they may determine.' Surely this can only be interpreted as highly suggestive of premeditated discrimination.

"After answering a lengthy questionnaire the men find that irrespective of what province they were born in or duration of B.C. domicile they are classed as prairie transients. Regardless of the fact they have never seen the prairies they are asked to what part of the prairies they wish to be shipped to. From this it would also appear the process of registration is apparently for the purpose of sparring for time. Then when one considers the care taken to squeeze every detail from applicants it would be expected the government would take similar precautions as to the record of employers. That this is not the case is indicated by the fact one of the men was booked by the government office for a job with an employer who is notorious for his evasions of wage payments.

"Is it any wonder then, that Mr. Griffiths' admitted recently the government employment office did not function as it should?"

Mr. Ross also issued the following statement:

"It has been drawn to our attention by a Victoria householder that a man is soliciting funds with a sheet headed 'I am a Veteran.' The citizen told him to join the unemployed along with the many other war veterans as any support he would give would be in this direction.

"Rumors of the threatening of citizens together with defamatory statements are being traced to the citizens concern by our committee. To date all cases have been found groundless. Citizens do not wish to place their names in public statements, due to the possibility of the irresponsible persons causing property damage as a reaction. We ask all citizens to demand of solicitors on our behalf our official sheet which is stamped and signed by Secretary D. L. Stanners.

"A telegram has just arrived announcing another 100 unemployed men have arrived in Nanaimo and left at 9.20 for Victoria."

Cars driven by C. Bailey, 750 Roderick Street, and Kenneth Barlow, 1720 Cook Street, were considerably damaged in a collision last night at Johnson and Blanshard Streets, according to a police report.

URGES BIRDS BE CONSERVED

Miss D. G. Cox, Addressing Teachers, Favors Bells For Cats

Teachers attending the twenty-fifth annual Victoria Summer School of Education at Victoria High School this morning heard a plea that they instill the idea of conserving bird life into their pupils.

"Birds are a part of our national wealth. Without them we could not exist," said Dorothy Gordon Cox in the course of an address on "Birds and Their Ways."

She told of an experiment in Germany in which several acres of farm land had been covered with a canopy of fine wire netting. At the end of five years there was not a spear of green left under the netting.

In this connection she told her audience very few birds were really harmful. Many of the hawks shot by farmers were actually a help to them because their chief diet was small rodents and insect pests. One type of hawk ate as many as 200 grasshoppers a day.

The only birds which she named as definitely injurious to man were the crow and the magpie.

She asked the teachers to encourage humane eradication of birds such as these by destroying the eggs rather than killing off the grown birds and allowing the fledglings to starve.

An important step towards conservation would be limitation of the number of stray cats, she said. There were some 78,000,000 strays on this continent.

Miss Cox advocated putting bells on all pet cats to warn birds of their approach, and shooting all those which did not wear bells.

DANCE RECITAL

Last night two artists remarkable for their vitality and versatility gave a dance recital before the teachers.

David Tihmar and Dorothee Jarnac have been soloists with the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York, the Hollywood Ballet and the San Francisco Opera Company, and have been on the screen in a number of pictures, including "The Girl of the Golden West" and "Marie Antoinette."

Their program last night was notable for its expression, its color and the fine contrast of the successive numbers.

The two artists appeared together in the opening dance, "Chopiniana." Then followed rapidly an extraordinary variety of styles and subject matters, including an interpretative Indian dance by Tihmar; a Strauss-like Viennese duo, a ballet-style Irish dance by Miss Jarnac; the interpretative "Fire Dance," by Tihmar; Rimski - Korsakov's "Flight of the Bumble Bee," translated by Miss Jarnac; "Malguena," exotic and passionate duo; the impish "Le Bouffon" and the staccato "Comanche Ceremonial," by Tihmar, and a humorous Portuguese country dance.

MANITOBA PICNIC HELD AT GORGE

Some 300 former Manitobans enjoyed their sixth annual picnic at the Japanese Gardens yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. E. R. Snyder of Brentwood was elected president, A. H. Sutherland secretary-treasurer, and John Swales, D. R. Bremner, H. C. Rose, Mrs. Thos. Anderson and Mrs. A. R. Hatch committee.

Greetings were conveyed to the assembly by Capt. B. J. Gadsden, city alderman, a former Manitoban, on behalf of the mayor and council of the city of Victoria.

A letter of congratulation from the officials of the municipality of Arthur, the largest municipality in Manitoba, was read, tendering good wishes.

Speakers were W. R. Ridington and Colin Cameron, presidents respectively of the Saskatchewan and Alberta associations, who brought greetings from their organizations.

A special invitation to Manitobans to attend the Manitoba Night dance at the Foresters' Hall was extended by the Pro Patria Branch of the Canadian Legion.

A reunion of former Manitobans is held on the first Wednesday of July annually.

CAME HERE TO FIND BEAUTY

Riverside City Manager Delighted With Vancouver Island Scenery

"We wanted to come up to see genuine beauty. In our country we have only the artificial. And what we have seen so far is far above our expectations."

W. C. Evans, city manager of Riverside, California, expressed his appreciation of the island scenery in those words during a visit to the City Hall today.

Mr. Evans is accompanied by his wife and Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Barnes of Beverly Hills. They plan on spending a couple of days here before returning south.

A poor market for citrus fruits has left conditions in his territory rather poor, Mr. Evns said. "With fruit at half a cent a pound and costs of raising it just that, you can't make anything," he remarked.

Mr. Evans questioned city officials regarding the single jobless demonstration held this morning.

Informed of its nature he remarked:

"Why, it's just like home, but up here nobody seems mad about it."

Slash Fire Rages In Kapoor Area

A great pillar of smoke rising skywards in the general direction of the Malahat Highway at midday today, came from a slash fire in the Kapoor Logging Company's operations.

Long distance telephone inquiries elicited information at the Kapoor camp that the fire was under control. The great volume of smoke was easily visible from the city and aroused considerable interest.

Up the Rhine

By PETER STURSBERG IN GERMANY.

AS THE SONG SAYS, the Rhine is a German river, and traveling up its turgid yellow course through its hills studded with vineyards and past its romantic ruins, you cannot help learn the history and legend of this German people who have lived for so many centuries by its banks.

The tide of civilization lapped at the Rhine years before Christ was born. Along its shores the Romans built 50 forts. For a time they kept the empire safe for the Caesars but finally the Barbarians broke through to form the Germany and Europe of today.

Cologne was one of these Roman forts on the Rhine, though it is better known to most people for a building of a later date. The twin spires of its cathedral can be seen for miles around and their phantastic gargoyles grin down on the town. Inside the nave is a thin gothic arch of great height and beauty, but inside it is dark and dank.

Bonn, another Roman fort, is a delightful quiet town. Its university is in the former palace of the Archbishop who was also an Elector of Germany and was given more to things temporal than spiritual, for his residence was on a magnificent scale looking down an avenue to a hunting lodge of great size almost a mile away.

Beethoven was born at Bonn and I saw his birthplace, a little green and brown cottage on a narrow street. The musician never really knew his age, so the guide said, for his father exploited him as an infant prodigy long beyond his infancy.

A Nazi friend of mine with whom I stayed in Bonn took me to a beautiful park overlooking the river where we drank the famous wine of the river, the Rhine wine. Prost, to the youth of this new Germany at last freed from the Jews who were dancing out in the open to a band playing jazz some of which I am sure was written by Gershwin or Berlin.

Where the seven mountains lie like a monster guarding the Rhine, Siegfred is supposed to have slain the dragon. In a pit which he had dug by the river, he slew the dragon with an upward thrust, for it could be killed no other way. Then he bathed in its blood, which made him invulnerable, but not quite. Unfortunately a leaf got in the way of the stream of blood, and there was one place where he could and was killed.

A German tourist agent on the Rhine boat was delighted to see me and for no venal reason, as he himself was on a holiday.

Ach, business was bad, he said, and it had been so promising this year. There had been many bookings in February, then came the Austrian affair, and all had been canceled. Things were picking up again when the Czechoslovakian trouble renewed the war scare, and the new visa for the British just about put the finishing touch.

Hard-of-Hearing Party Success

The Hard-of-Hearing Club held a successful garden party yesterday afternoon in the grounds at the home of Col. A. W. R. Wilby, 1065 Moss Street, netting $97.70 for the club funds. Mrs. B. C. Combe, president of the club, welcomed the guests during the afternoon.

Dart throwing, clock golf and the fish pond were popular amusements, and attractive stalls were arranged about the grounds. Tea was served on the lawn, under the direction of Miss L. Dodimead, the tables being centred with vases of roses and campanula. Fortune telling by Mrs. Canon and Mrs. Cowan added to the afternoon's entertainment, and music was played by a one-man band, Mr. Lavery.

Ice cream and soft drinks were sold by Miss Adele Barclay; superfluities, Mrs. C. M. Williams; lavender, Mrs. C. Brown; home cooking, Miss Frieberg; candy, Mrs. W. H. Routledge, and Mrs. Murray was in charge of the fish pond; Miss Anne Fields, clock golf, and Tommy Treherne, games and dart throwing. Miss Isobel Rootledge was at the gate.

Ask Your DEALERS

The local merchant is the connecting link between producer and consumer.

His contact with the buying public is direct, intimate and personal. He knows his customers, their likes and dislikes; why they buy one product and refuse another; why one brand sells more rapidly than others.

It may be assumed, therefore, the retail merchant knows the best way to produce immediate sales in his locality, and it is significant that his basic advertising medium is the local daily newspaper.

In the first four months of this year the Canadian daily newspapers carried more than 40,000,000 lines of retail advertising—striking evidence of nation-wide confidence in the value of the daily newspapers in Canada, as productive advertising media.

CANADIAN DAILY NEWSPAPERS

At Capitol

One of the youngsters appearing in "Crime School," now at the Capitol Theatre.

Capitol Shows "Crime School"

Sometimes amusing, sometimes tragic, and always exciting, "Crime School," the Warner Bros. picture opening at the Capitol Theatre today, contains a powerful indictment of unthinking, brutal, out-moded methods of dealing with juvenile crime.

Effectively utilizing the talents of the six New York boys who became famous in both stage and screen versions of "Dead End," as well as such adult players as Humphrey Bogart and Gale Page, the latter a beautiful newcomer to the screen from radio, the new Warner picture makes a strong case for its basic theme—that the old type of boys' reformatory is in fact a "Crime School."

"Zamboanga" On The Plaza Screen

Exciting Story of Life in Sulu Islands Opens Here Today

Wife-stealing is a common practice among the Moros of the Sulu Sea, especially the piratical "Sea Gypsies," featured in the startling and realistic Grand National picture "Zamboanga," to be featured at the Plaza Theatre today.

The fact that the Moros of the Sulu Islands are of the Moslem faith, which permits plural wives, may have something to do with it, but when a Moro wants a wife, be the maiden of his choice willing or unwilling, he goes out and takes her—providing none of her relatives are near!

Columbia Shows Western Story

The colorful Texas Rangers, the state organization of mounted police in the great "Lone Star" cattle empire, has been the subject of countless dramatic stories. In Columbia's new western thriller, "Law of the Ranger," starring Bob Allen and Elaine Shepard, the mounted state police again occupy the limelight.

"Law of the Ranger" is currently featured at the Columbia Theatre and offers the handsome and hard-riding Allen as an "undercover" Ranger on the trail of a gang of western crooks.

Oak Bay Shows "Old Chicago"

Superb screen spectacle, with all the elements that go into the making of great entertainment, was hailed today at the Oak Bay Theatre, as Darryl F. Zanuck's "In Old Chicago" opened.

Up to now, Hollywood seemed to have made the most of all of the classic struggles between man and the elements, but not since the "Birth of a Nation" has such completely overwhelming grandeur graced a motion picture screen.

Tyrone Power, Alice Faye, Don Ameche, Alice Brady, Andy Devine, Tom Brown and Phyllis Brooks are in the cast of "In Old Chicago."

"World in Revolt" Here on Monday

Mothers, fathers and children will find in "The World in Revolt," coming Monday to the Plaza Theatre, a dramatic and startling motion picture that will bring home to them significance of British citizenship.

Actual scenes of events leading up to and including the disturbances that swept over Russia, Germany, Austria, Italy, China, Cuba, France and America unfold on the screen.

PLAZA — "Zamboanga," a saga of the Sulu Sea.

At The Plaza

A Sulu Island native dancer in a scene from "Zamboanga," now showing at the Plaza Theatre.

Musical Picture To Open Tomorrow

The Dominion Theatre will offer as its feature attraction starting tomorrow, "Gold Diggers in Paris," newest of the Warner Bros. famous musical series, starring Rudy Vallee and featuring Freddie Fisher's Schnickelfritz Band, Rosemary Lane, Hugh Herbert, Gloria Dickson, Allen Jenkins, Mabel Todd and Melville Cooper.

Harry Warren, Al Dubin and Johnny Mercer supplied the musical numbers which include "I Wanna Go Back to Bali," "Day Dreaming," "Stranger in Paree" and "The Latin Quarter."

ATLAS THEATRE

Errol Flynn, author by choice, adventurer by instinct, actor by fate, is unquestionably one of Hollywood's biggest enigmas.

While Garbo lives a sequestered life because she fears the contacts that would be forced upon her by social activity, Flynn takes Hollywood or leaves it as a combination of mood and independence of spirit dictates.

system, interest of the party always exceeded consideration of the individual. It was up to all to exercise their ability to the full to elect Dr. Manion Prime Minister.

Gordon Ford of Toronto, newly elected president of the Young Conservative Association, pledged the support of the youths in the party to the new leader. Too long he said, "we have sat idle while what should have been young Conservatives' votes were being organized and seduced into foreign camps."

At the convention the "National Young Conservatives" had been formed, Mr. Ford said. "Trust us and we will trust you. We are ready to serve."

Louis Gagnon, Mont Joli French-speaking secretary of the new organization, told the convention the youth of Quebec and the other provinces had found a formula of agreement and there would be no racial or sectional differences within their ranks.

FIRST BALLOT

Dr. Manion's strength was planly shown on the first ballot for leader, which gave:

Dr. Manion 726.
Murdock Macpherson 475.
Joseph Harris 131.
Denton Massey 128.
Lawson 105.

Mr. Lawson, being low man, was dropped for the second ballot.

EMPIRE RELATIONS

In his nomination speech to the convention last night Dr. Manion said that the day before the issue of Empire co-operation had been raised before the convention. "I would like at once to say there can be no two opinions on that subject, and I have no doubt that if the matter were thoroughly explained to the people, all would stand together," he said.

The greatest problem facing Canada was unemployment.

"If I am elected leader of this party, and later made Prime Minister of Canada, my first act will be to appoint a Minister of Youth Welfare, who will take the problem of youth in hand," said Dr. Manion.

Dr. Manion said he had studied the railway problem intensively during his five years as minister. He was opposed to unification as has been proposed.

PRESENTATION TO BENNETT

Several incidents marked yesterday's full program at the convention, a highlight being the presentation of full-length portrait in oils of retiring leader Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, and his speech of acceptance.

Mr. Bennett scored those within the party and outside whom he described as reactionary forces which had moved to kill his reform policy of 1934.

"They said Bennett must be sacrificed," the leader said, "and he was sacrificed." But he had only been endeavoring to interpret and carry out the platform of the Winnipeg convention of 1927, a platform he had no part in formulating.

Mr. Bennett was visibly moved when the convention stood in silent tribute to his sister, Mrs. W. D. Herridge, who died recently, and when his nephew, six-year-old William Herridge, was formally installed as a delegate-at-large.

Direct appeals were made toward the French-Canadian delegates from Quebec by Mr. Bennett, who asked them to join with all the delegates in taking a standing pledge to maintain a united Canada and the British commonwealth of nations.

There were several references by speakers to the Tuesday speech of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen in which he attacked the present government for its stand against establishment of Royal Air Force training schools in Canada, and urged Conservatives to make an issue of the question of Empire relations for the people to decide.

All the candidates for the party leadership made pleas for unity and harmony in the Dominion, and deplored any activities that would make for a weakness in the solidarity of Confederation.

Mr. Lawson pledged himself to uphold traditions of the Conservative Party which were "engraved upon my heart," and to work so the people of Canada might be given "a life more abundant and an opportunity to live and earn."

Mr. Harris promised, if chosen, a business government in which the industries of the forest, field and sea would be invited to co-operate with the administration in the advancement of the people.

Mr. Massey urged consideration not of industry or agriculture in the abstract, but of the individual farmer, the industrial worker and the fishermen, and above all of the youth of Canada.

Brief sketches of the four men balloted on with Hon. R. J. Manion for the Conservative leader today:

Hon. J. Earl Lawson, 46, former Revenue Minister. Member of Parliament for South York, Ont., a lawyer, resident of Toronto and born in Hamilton, Ont.

Joseph Harris, 49, Toronto industrialist, born near Toronto, M.P. for Toronto-Danforth for the past 16 years.

Denton Massey, 38, stalwart son of a prominent Toronto family, graduate of several universities, head of the famous York Bible class and member of Parliament for Toronto-Greenwood since 1935. He has devoted his whole time in recent years to public life.

Murdock A. MacPherson, 46, native of Grand Anse, Cape Breton Island, adopted son of Saskatchewan which he served as Attorney-General, a war veteran and a lawyer living in Regina.

Foreign Policy

From a Correspondent

IT IS EASY—especially at this safe distance—to condemn recent British foreign policy. The world has looked to Britain for a lead. But the British Government has handed the leadership over to a couple of war-loving, treaty-breaking, utterly ruthless tyrants, and has encouraged, and accepted, and has encouraged others to accept, their wanton subjugation of fellow nations whose integrity and safety they had solemnly covenanted to respect and defend. The iniquity of this seems equaled only by its folly. For every successful aggression tempts to the next, and the British abandonment of Collective Security for "power politics" and "each for himself" gives the reins to the heavily armed aggressors and leaves every small nation in Europe to make what terms with them it may, and the two aggressors to their game of reducing Great Britain herself to impotence by their control of the Mediterranean from Spain, and of all central Europe by successive absorption of its smaller and weaker states. Moreover, by the Chamberlain agreement with Mussolini to bless his appropriation of Abyssinia and to let him bring his war in Spain to its anticipated end, it has repelled and estranged the one great power on whose co-operation Britain's own preservation from successful attack by the aggressors depends. To be sure a wicked policy and a foolish.

But let the defendant's case be heard. We are living in the 20th, not in the 19th century. Britain has no longer the power on sea or land or air to impose her lead. She is one power among others no less powerful. Britain, indeed, is peculiarly and widely vulnerable. Her navy is no longer able to police at once the North Sea, the Mediterranean and the Far East. Her army is inconsiderable. Her air force is in the making. And much of her population is massed in the southeast corner of England within easy striking distance of an increasingly potent modern air power, against which she is still almost defenceless. If she disarmed too rashly in the past, that was an act of loyalty to her covenant in the League of Nations, in which she was not followed by her neighbors. And if she has ceased to trust to the Collective Security of the League, that is because other nations in the League, and nations outside it, have withheld that co-operation of which Collective Security is constituted. Amongst those nations are Canada and the United States, one of whom has never been a member of the League which its President inaugurated, while the other has so far supported her membership with nothing more effective than applause and a refusal to promise to adhere to her covenant in a vital emergency.

British statesmen may claim that they have no assurance of sufficient support for any strong lead to deter the aggressors; while they know too well that any widespread war in which Britain took part would end in spreading utter desolation throughout the world, whichever side was called the victor. Neither Britain alone, nor Britain and France together, can risk an immediate war with the dictators. She can thus trust neither to her own might nor yet to collective insurance. In despair of enough help from elsewhere, Britain has been driven to unlimited rearmament, and in the meantime she has to contrive what peace she may from day to day.

The recognition of the "faits accomplis" in Ethiopia and Austria, the scheme for limiting intervention in, and for Italian withdrawal from Spain, the negotiations to prevent any rash German move on Czechoslovakia have their explanation in a desire to preserve the peace by means that are practicable under the actual conditions, and in the belief that time will prove to the peoples and the governments even of the aggressor nations that peaceful methods pay and war does not. To provoke another world war now by any brave lead unbacked by overwhelming force would be both wrong and foolish.

Wheat Futures Lack Support

WINNIPEG (CP)—Lack of support carried Winnipeg wheat futures lower today in the fourth consecutive drab session of the week. At the close quotations were 2⅛ to 1⅛ lower with July 95⅞, October 78⅞, November 78½ and December 76⅞ to 77 cents.

Apart from a little intermarket spreading, operations were dull and routine.

Liverpool closed ⅞ to 1⅛ higher and Buenos Aires was ⅝ lower at noon.

Export of red springs was limited to odd cars. It was estimated 100,000 bushels of durums were exported to Mediterranean ports.

Pit trade in coarse grains was featured by exports of barley, but other grains were light.

CHICAGO (AP)—Late downturns of Chicago wheat prices today much more than offset earlier bulges.

Material net losses were shown in the final dealings. Setbacks of wheat value were simultaneous with tumbles of securities after preceding gains. Argentine and Russian shipments of wheat made a bearish showing.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were ⅝ to ⅞ lower compared with yesterday's finish, July 71 to 71⅛, September 72½ to 72⅝, Corn ⅛ off to ⅛ up, July 57⅞; September 59¼, and oats varying from ¼ decline to ¼ advance.

Foreign Exchange

NEW YORK — Noon rates, Great Britain in dollars, others in cents:

Great Britain, 4.93½; 60-day bills, 4.92¾; Canada, Montreal in New York, 99.28⅛; New York in Montreal, 100.71⅞; France, 2.77⅝.

Rates in spot cables.

Calgary Oils

CALGARY (CP) — Prices showed little change in a dull session on the Calgary Stock Exchange today. Transfers totaled about 25,000 shares.

Okalta was the only issue to show a big change. It dropped 7 to 1.60. Richfield was off 1½ at 3¾. Fractional losses were posted by Commoil, McDougall-Segur and Mercury. Prairie, Firestone and Globe gained fractions.

EMPIRE TRADE MOVES URGED

OTTAWA (CP)—The resolution dealing with trade and commerce, passed at the Conservative convention today, declared the party's continued adherence to its traditional policy of fostering and sustaining by fiscal protection Canadian labor and Canadian industries, especially the primary industries of agriculture, fisheries, forestry and mining and affirms the policy of having tariff schedules under scientific investigation by a permanent tariff commission.

The resolution said the convention affirms its firm adherence to the policy of preferential trade within the British Commonwealth of Nations.

The convention, it said, was convinced that the permanent interests of Canada were best conserved by enlarging its markets in the United Kingdom and in other British Dominions.

Expenditures of American class 1 railroads for maintenance of equipment in 1935 totaled $681,886,872.

BONDS

NEW YORK—Rail loans had a big place in the bond market today, pushing up 1 to around 5 points in response to the interstate commerce commission's decision permitting eastern carriers to raise passenger rates to 2½ cents from the present 2-cent-a-mile base.

It was a slow session of U.S. Governments and foreign issues. The former were mixed and narrow.

Calgary Livestock

CALGARY (CP)—Receipts to noon today: Cattle 89, calves 13, hogs 434, sheep 38.

Cattle market fairly active; prices steady. Good butcher steers 5.50 to 6.00; common to medium 3.50 to 5.00; good heifers 5.00 to 6.00; good cows 3.50 to 4.00; good to choice veal calves 5.00 to 6.50.

Bulk hogs through billed; no sales Wednesday's prices, selects 11.85; bacons 11.35; butchers 10.85.

Good lambs 7.00 to 7.75; fat ewes and yearlings 3.00 to 5.00.

London Market

LONDON (AP)—Institutional purchasing of British funds, coupled with the sharp advance in American shares, gave the stock market a firm tone today. Rubber shares were in demand and tobacco and all metal groups closed higher. Domestic rails showed a firmer tendency. Fractional reactions from top prices of the day took place near the close.

EARNINGS DECREASE

MONTREAL (CP)—Decrease of $222,000 was shown today in Canadian Pacific Railway Company's earnings of $3,411,000 for the 10-day period ended June 30, compared with $3,633,000 in the corresponding 1937 period.

BANKS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The comptroller of the currency issued a call today for the condition of all United States National banks at the close of business Thursday, June 30.

The federal reserve board and the federal deposit insurance corporation also asked banks which they examine to report their June 30 condition.

The three agencies together called for reports from 13,735 banks, both national and state, or nearly every bank in the country.

Condition reports are regularly asked for from two to four times a year by bank supervisors.

Trade in England benefits to the sum of nearly $100,000,000 from the social activities of the London "season."

Profit-selling In Industrial Stocks

NEW YORK (AP) — Profit selling in industrials tipped over the stock market today after heavy forenoon buying of rails and utilities had touched off one of the sharpest upswings of the recent recovery.

Purchasing orders from all parts of the country and abroad piled up overnight in brokerage offices and, for 53 minutes after the opening, the ticker tape was as much as seven minutes behind. Blocks of 1,000 to 10,000 shares changed hands on the resumption of the upturn, with gains ranging from one to more than three points. The new stock exchange "flash" system was again put into use for a while to bring instantaneous quotations of leaders to board rooms.

There was a substantial slowdown as offerings began to trickle into the strong industrials of the last two weeks. At the start of the final hour volume again expanded briskly on the downside and initial advances were reduced or converted into declines of fractions to a point or more in numerous cases. The ticker once more lagged two minutes for a brief interval. Activity then slackened and extreme setbacks were cut in many instances at the close. Aircrafts were given a belated run-up. Transfers were around 2,700,000 shares.

Favored stocks the greater part of the time were N.Y. Central, Baltimore and Ohio, Consolidated Edison, North American, Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak, Canada Dry and American Telephone. Douglas Aircraft and Boeing stepped up a point or so each. Most rail stocks were ahead at the finish.

Buying interest in railroad issues, especially those of eastern carriers, featured the bond market, and gains of one to four points were shown by the more active liens before profit-taking pared them down in the final hour.

Following the announcement yesterday of the interstate commerce commission, granting eastern lines an increase in passenger fares, the railroad list turned sharply upward at the opening of the market and the demand continued most of the day.

Dow Jones averages closed today as follows:

Thirty industrials—137.49, off 0.29.

Twenty rails—27.93, up 0.34.

Fifteen utilities—22.15, off 0.04.

Forty bonds — 88.67, up 0.49.

Total sales—2,770,000.

Early Gains Trimmed Later

TORONTO (CP) — Prices swung upward in the early trading Thursday on the Toronto market but under profit-taking in the afternoon, gains were trimmed or eliminated. Volume was 800,000.

Waite-Amulet climbed to 4.65, but only part of the gain was held. Nickel, Noranda and Hudson Bay closed down. Ventures, Pend Oreille, Denison and Jack Waite held to the up side. Castle, Mining Corporation and Nipissing weakened 4 to 10 cents.

Pickle Crow held a gain of about 20 cents. O'Brien, Teck-Hughes, Hard Rock and Sylvanite worked lower.

Royalite Oil firmed a point or more and Calgary-Edmonton, Okalta, Davies and Vulcan improved. Food and steels harbored some weak spots.

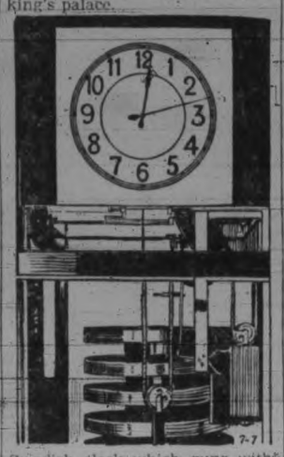
Progress of the Clock

If you had paid a visit to Paris 578 years ago, you might have seen a man at work on a clock. His name was Henri de Vick, and the clock he was finishing was to be placed near the top of the king's palace.



Swedish clock which runs without winding and without electricity

It was a new-style clock—that is, a new style for that time in history. A weight of 500 pounds supplied the power. There was a big crank to pull the weight up into place. After it got there, it would slowly fall, moving two big cog-wheels as it went down. The large cog-wheels turned other wheels, and one wheel was in close touch with the hand which went around the dial. There was only one hand, the one which told the hour. Minute hands were not used on clocks in those days, and a person had to guess the minute as well as he could.

De Vick was a clever man, and his clock was better than some of the old-style water clocks which were common in his day. Yet it did not keep the time very closely. We are told it usually was wrong by an hour or two.

Clocks with springs were invented about a century and a half later. A German locksmith named Henlein was a pioneer in making such clocks. He produced one which would run for 40 hours when the spring was wound up.

Not much more than 100 years after the spring clock came into use, the clock-makers added a minute hand, also a hand to tell the seconds. What a step in progress, if only the seconds and minutes were right.

As time went on, people asked for better and better clocks, and got them. For a long period, people supposed that a clock had to have a pendulum to keep good time, but ways were found to make excellent spring clocks with no pendulum.

The old pendulum clock had to stand upright, or it would stop. The present style of spring clocks will keep time even if they are lying sidewise, face down, or upside down.

Spring clocks have been made which will run as long as 400 days — more than a year — with one winding.

In a small town in Sweden, a clock of a very interesting kind was made in 1916. It had weights but did not need a human hand to wind it. There was no electric power, no spring power.

For 22 years that clock has been going, and keeping good time. How does it do it? The answer is the changing pressure of the air. It is so cleverly made that changes in the barometer will make the weights rise from time to time, and thus supply enough power. If this clock isn't an example of "perpetual motion," it seems very close to it.

HOROSCOPE

FRIDAY, JULY 8, 1938

Adverse planetary aspects rule today, according to astrology. Depression and uncertainty will be felt by those who are sensitive.

Clashes between government and business executives are indicated and there may be a grave impasse.

Labor continues subject to disturbing influences which will bring more serious reactions from manufacturers than in the past.

Girls should make the best of all opportunities for gaiety through the vacation season. There may be unusual romance and dramatic events in social circles.

Women are to assume many responsibilities in civic and national affairs before the end of the year. Their clubs will render splendid public service.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of tests. Financial matters may be unsatisfactory to both men and women.

Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly resourceful and successful. These subjects of Cancer usually are original and independent in their thinking.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—Do you think a young man with a university education would feel superior to a girl without even a high school education, but who is holding a responsible office position? Do you think the girl should tell him when he proposes to her that she is not up to his standard in education? Does education play an important part in making or marring the happiness of a marriage?

MISS P. S.

Answer: Of course, the young college graduate will feel superior to the young lady without a degree, but college graduates feel superior to everybody else on earth anyway, so that doesn't matter. Also, every man feels superior to every woman, no matter whether or not she is the educated one, so there is nothing to worry over in that, either.

In fact, it is a very good arrangement all around, for nothing makes more for domestic peace and happiness than for the husband to be able to look down upon his wife and feel that he is wiser than she is; and nothing makes a wife more blissful than to be able to gaze adoringly up to her husband and to regard him as an oracle.

Whenever you hear a wife begin every sentence with "John says," and when you observe one meekly burning incense at her husband's feet, you may be sure that you are beholding a contented household in which there is no wrangling nor disputes.

General observation will bear this statement out. When we are trying to "sell" a girl to young men we descant upon her beauty, her dancing, upon her prowess in outdoor sports, but we never dream of saying that a girl is a Ph.D., or that she reads heavy books, or that she understands the Einstein theory. For well we know that if we did, wild horses couldn't drag any youth to come and call upon her.

But you make a mistake in thinking that because a girl has not a formal education she is bound to be ignorant and stupid. Some of the very best educated people I have ever known had little schooling, but they had read, studied and observed until they had made themselves highly intelligent and well informed on every subject. Certainly a girl who is able to hold down a responsible office position is no fool, and very possibly she is far more mentally alert and up-to-date than her college-boy sweetheart.

Yacht Regatta At Vancouver Closes

Seattle Entries Win Most Events, Although Lady Van Takes Isherwood Cup

VANCOUVER (CP)—Visiting Seattle skippers found the seaways of the English Bay course to their liking yesterday and swept to victory in most events in the final day of racing at the Pacific International Yachting Association's regatta.

However, the pride of the Vancouver fleet, Lieutenant-Governor Hamber's big white R class sloop Lady Van, kept her record clean by sweeping to another victory over Sir Tom and Lady Pat in the final race for the Isherwood Trophy.

Tuesday Lady Van, skippered by H. E. Wiley, won two straight from the Seattle entrants. Yesterday she finished ahead again in 2.45.40, with Sir Tom second and Lady Pat third. It was six straight for the Vancouver craft. Previously she won three straight over her Seattle opponents in the Lipton Trophy event.

Circe of Seattle won the double A cruiser class race in 1.25.13, with Angelica of Seattle second in 1.25.45. Maher, of Seattle, only craft entered in the A class cruisers event, finished in 1.45.03.

Seattle entries cleanel up in the special cloops class. We're Here finished first in 1.29.10, followed by Lady Alice in 1.30.21 and Oslo in 1.31.33.

Gamine of Vancouver won the B class n 1.16.51 with Nelmar of Vancouver second and Gwendolyn I third.

In the double C cruiser class, Gypsy Heart of Seattle raced home ahead of a Vancouver and a Victoria craft. The Seattle boat's time was 1.03.17, followed by Lady Luck of Vancouver in 1.10.13. Antares of Victoria was third in 1.11.24.

Tycoon of Victoria finished second behind the Okolehao of Vancouver in the C cruiser class. The winner's time was 1.14.27 with the Victoria boat six minutes behind. Banshee of Seattle was third.

Auriga of Vancouver came home ahead of the field in the star class in 1.28.02. Black Hawk of Vancouver, skippered by Bob Lanson of Seattle was second in 1.28.20 and Albireo of Seattle third in 1.11.09.

Kismot of Victoria won the 14-foot international dinghies Victoria division race in 1.09.40. Penguin and Tern, both of Victoria, were second and third respectively.

The flattie's class went to Seattle as Cats Paw II was sailed to a victory over two Vancouver craft in 1.04.22. Silver Wings and Mine Alone, both of Vancouver, finished behind the winner in that order.

HOLIDAY TRIP INTERRUPTED

Woman, Sailing From Here For Honolulu, Advised Her Son Shot By Negro

Mrs. R. E. Flanagan and her sister, Mrs. G. T. Daren, were in Victoria yesterday afternoon to sail aboard the liner Niagara on their way to the Hawaiian Islands when Mrs. Flanagan was advised of the shooting of her 38-year-old son by a negro blacksmith at his plantation in Mississippi.

The two women immediately chartered an airplane for Vancouver and then flew to Seattle where they made connections with a plane for the east. They expected to reach Mississippi late this afternoon.

An hour after Mrs. Flanagan arrived here from Seattle by Ss. Princess Kathleen she was advised of the shooting of her son, Purdy, at his ranch at Blanton, Miss.

They left here at 2.30 p.m., left Vancouver by regular plane at 5.15 p.m., reached Chicago this morning and immediately made connections for Jackson, Miss., from where they will travel by car to the ranch.

Mrs. Flanagan said her son was survived by a widow and son.

NEW POLICE BOAT READY

The Provincial Police today took delivery of their reconditioned motorboat from the Kingston Street plant of Armstrong Brothers, where she was thoroughly overhauled during the last six months.

Christened the P.M.A. No. 14, the remodeled craft is the largest police boat in British Columbia waters. She will patrol the stormy west coast of Vancouver Island, having proved her worth along that treacherous coast when she was a fish boat.

Armstrong Brothers installed new accommodation for the police officers and her crew of five, and built a court room and quarters for prisoners. The 250 horsepower Diesel engine was overhauled and an auxiliary installed. A hot water heating plant was put in and a radio erected.

Se will be one of the most modern police boats on the continent, and will fill a longfelt want along the West Coast.

Magazine Writers Bound For Alaska

WINNIPEG—Corey Ford and Alistair McBain, internationally-known writers, passed through Winnipeg today over Canadian National Lines en route to Vancouver where they will arrive Saturday morning. They will sail for Alaska. Their present destination is a point on the Aleutian Islands. They will be in the north country until September.

In addition to their prowess with pen and typewriter, they are renowned fishermen and two years ago "fished their way across Canada." Unfortunately for them their itinerary will not permit the use of fishing tackle on this trip until they get to Alaska. There is a long-standing feud between Corey Ford and Courtney Ryley Cooper, another famed magazine writer, and Corey is out this year to catch a fish that will photograph large enough to put "Coop" in his proper place for all time.

Mr. Ford and Mr. McBain have co-operated in many stories in the past which have given Canada world-wide publicity.

F. H. Bagshaw, K.C., Regina, said the resolution had been presented after long consideration and was thought to be best designed to preserve unity and harmony in the convention. "You may raise controversial issues if you like, but you do so at the peril of the Conservative Party. You will be serving the heart's desire of Mr. Mackenzie King and his followers."

VICTORIAN SPEAKS

Bruce Miekleburgh, aged 17, of Victoria, said there had been pleas for unity echoing through the convention ever since it started. But when an amendment was suggested which proposed the first step toward national unity, it was opposed.

The amendment was defeated and the motion carried.

Skipper Builds Fine Model

CAPT. A. McDONALD

photographed in the garden of his home at 121 Government Street with the model of the old sailing ship City of Delhi, in which he served his apprenticeship, sailing out of ports in the British Isles. The model is a beauty, and old sea dogs who have seen it say it is one of the finest in Victoria. The City of Delhi was built in Glasgow in 1867 for George Smith and Sons and was of 47 "City" sailing ships that served all ports of the world. She ended her days when she foundered with a load of coal 400 miles off Cape Finisterre, Spain, when on a voyage from Ardrossan, Scotland, to Montevideo.

NO DATE FOR ITALIAN PACT

Chamberlain Tells British Commons He Is Not Speeding It

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Chamberlain today declined to hasten the Anglo-Italian agreement into effect or even name a definite date for its coming into force.

He told the House of Commons he felt conditions for making operative the accord, signed at Rome April 16, had not been fulfilled. These included "settlement" of the Spanish civil war.

Some progress in that direction was made today when Great Britain sent special messengers to capitals of both Spanish factions seeking approval of the European Non-intervention Committee's $13,750,000 plan for withdrawing alien troops from Spain.

Replying to a question by J. J. Davidson, Labor, the Prime Minister said:

"His Majesty's Government have repeatedly said they were not in a position to give full effect to the agreement until certain conditions have been fulfilled. At the same time, as I stated in this House June 22, His Majesty's Government are anxious to see the agreement brought into force at the earliest date possible consistent with fulfillment of the above mentioned conditions."

ITALY WANTS SPEED

Italy is known to have been urging Britain for quick fulfilment of the agreement, but Mr. Chamberlain is understood to have been holding out for a "substantial" withdrawal of Italians fighting for the Spanish insurgents.

Mr. Davidson asked if the Prime Minister did not think final acceptance by 26 nations of the British plan to evacuate foreign fighters from Spain permitted the fixing of a definite date for enforcement of the Anglo-Italian agreement and if the setting of such a date would not expedite troop withdrawals.

"No," snapped Mr. Chamberlain, "I do not think either of those things."

COMMISSION PLAN

Meanwhile London officials worked on preliminary details of the appointment of two neutral commissions to be sent to Spain to count the outsiders fighting for both factions so the plan could be operative immediately on approval by insurgent and government leaders. Such approval has been forecast.

Around the Docks

Clo-oose, tiny Indian settlement on the southwest shore of Vancouver Island, where a ship every 10 days is an event, this morning greeted two steamers, the Princess Norah and the Princess Maquinna, both of which are on the west coast of Vancouver Island run for the summer months.

The Norah arrived there at 8 on her way into Victoria and the Maquinna arrived at the same time on her way from Victoria to Zeballos.

There is no dock at Clo-oose, and the Indians and the few white settlers come out to the ships in big dugout canoes and shabby gasboats and take passengers and cargo ashore over great long swells.

The full might of the Pacific breaks at Clo-oose and in the winter it is often impossible for the Princess Maquinna to get into the bay, surrounded by jagged rocks.

With general freight from the United Kingdom and bananas and citrus fruit from South America and southern California, the Donaldson freighter Parthenia, Capt. J. H. Clinton, reached the ocean docks this afternoon. After completing local business she proceeded to Seattle.

The commanding officer of the hydrographic survey steamer Wm. J. Stewart has reported to the Department of Transport the presence of uncharted rocks southeast of Trail Island and southeast of Lasqueti Island, in the Strait of Georgia.

The spar buoy formerly maintained northward of Brown Rock, Quatsino Sound, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, has been replaced by a red steel conical buoy, an official notice to mariners advises.

Without further notice red spar buoy No. 3, on the north side of the channel at the entrance to the Courtenay River, will be discontinued, and a black wooden spar buoy will be established on the south side of the channel.

Ss. Princess Victoria left this morning with 300 excursionists on a day's outing to Bellingham. She will return to Victoria this evening about 9.30.

Yesterday afternoon the Victoria took a similar number of excursionists on a pleasant cruise through the islands of the lower Gulf of Georgia.

The Ogden Point docks are experiencing one of their busiest weeks in some months as deep-sea freighters arrived for lumber parcels and general freight.

The Danish freighter Columbia and the British Monarch left overnight for Dairen, Manchuria and the United Kingdom, respectively.

The Boxhill, Capt. D. Drever, is loading 970,000 feet of lumber and 6,500 locally manufactured doors for the United Kingdom. The Norwegian freighter Nyhorn, Capt. Knute Meling, is taking 400,000 feet of lumber and 160 barrels of Saanich strawberries for Glasgow, and the Ramon de Larrinaga, Capt. Felix Bastariachea, is taking 700,000 feet for the British Isles.

Babies are aware of differences in light and shade, form and color, immediately on birth.

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores, or any druggist, a package of Hemroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemroid is a physician's prescription and is highly recommended. It is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost.

Mile High Vacations

Banff AND LAKE LOUISE!

Time out for a refreshing plunge and to absorb some of that famous mountain sunshine. Some like the beautiful outdoor pool with warm sulphur water, others the indoor pool with fresh, sparkling water.

Exciting fairways, down corridors of towering rock walls . . . tricky water holes with a background of snowy peaks, new hazards and three tees on most holes (for duffers, near-champions and champions).

A flash of sun on a silver back breaks the surface of the pool, snaps your thoughts back to the present. Your reel screams 'action,' your rod strains as the line runs out with a fighting rainbow trout.

Spruce-scented trails among the Alpine peaks, every turn unfolding some thrilling new vista as you jog along on a sure-footed mountain pony and fill your lungs with sparkling-clear mountain air.

You'll recall something of the romance of Geneva, Lucerne, Vienna as you dance in the great ballroom, or lazily stroll on the flower-blown terrace to the swing of an enchanting dance orchestra.

Tea-time on the terrace . . . watching the swimmers in the pool, a Swiss guide and his climbing party coming in, the "clock golfers" on the putting lawn or a foursome going off the picturesque first tee.
